Dulles Arrives For Florida Rest

By ED PFISTER and ZOLA SWARTHOUT
Herald Staff Writers

HOBE SOUND — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived smiling and cheerful at this millionaires' island retreat Monday, looking like anything but the sick man he is reputed to be.

The 71-year-old diplomat had alighted from the presidential plane Columbine at West Palm Beach, 40 miles south, walking erect and with a brisk step.

He smiled from the moment he stepped out of the door of the big Lockheed and greeted Col. George W. Peterson, commandant of Palm Beach Air Base.

Dulles took immediate note of a crowd of newspaper writers and photographers who, with military personnel and Florida Highway patrolmen, were the only ones on hand to greet him.

He posed obligingly for the cameramen, and when someone shouted "wave a greeting," he took off his gray homburg and waved it several times so all photographers could get pictures.

To the casual observer he looked less than his 71 years and appeared to have a good color. He was clad only in a dark pinstripe suit, obviously anticipating Florida's warm climate.

Dulles himself was down the ramp and on the ground chatting with officers when Mrs. Dulles and State Department aides left the plane.

He and Mrs. Dulles took seats in one Air Force car reserved for them and the State Department officials were put in another. There were no interviews nor did Dulles make any comment except to greet the base commandant.

The cars left immediately for the secluded home here of Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon, where Dulles is expected to rest for an indefinite period.

Dulles arrived here during a lull between two thunderstorms. Only a few servants were on hand to greet the party as it drove up a long roadway circling through dense woods to a moderately large white two-story home.

Dillon himself was not with the party. State Department aides said he had returned from Hobe Sound to Washington Sunday.

Take Warm Vacation, Ike Told

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower returned Monday from a five-day Easter holiday and learned that his doctor wants him to take another in a warm climate where he can get some exercise.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty made known the doctor's advice when he was asked whether the President will make his customary trip to Augusta, Ga., next week.

Hagerty said the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, and other White House staff members have advised the President to take a warm weather break from his official routine.

The President has taken on an increasing work load, especially in the foreign policy field, since Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was hospitalized in early February.

Eisenhower is scheduled to deliver two foreign policy speeches this week — to the council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and to a college convocation.

The President's doctor feels that golf and other exercise is essential to the chief executive's well-being.

U.S. Can 'Destroy Soviet'

Military Sure Of A-Defense

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Russia would be flattened by America's nuclear wallop if the Soviets attacked the Free World now, U.S. military leaders said Monday.

And they said American might — built around long-range bombers, missiles and missile-launching submarines— is growing at a pace to deter any such Soviet military adventure in the future.

This assessment was given by members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in secret testimony made public by the House Appropriations Committee after security censoring. Their views, given in January and February, were supported by Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy Monday in a speech to the Economic Club in Detroit.

McElroy said American nuclear striking power is "sufficient to destroy the Soviet Union if it should attack us."

As for the years to come, McElroy said, "We believe that our planned military programs will keep us, as we are now, ahead of the Soviet Union in over-all strength at any projected point in the future."

Counting Allied forces, the defense secretary said the Free World also will continue to have the means to cope with brushfire, or limited type, wars in which Russia might not become directly involved.

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the joint chiefs, told the House appropriations group he sees slight chance Russia will start general war within five years — unless "they do something wrong over there and get hotheaded."

Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, made the statement that "we would break her back" if Russia went to war against the U.S.

"We can destroy her many times over with the weapons we now have in existence," Burke said. "There is no way that she can stop that."

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, soon to retire as Army chief of staff, agreed with Burke that the U.S. has overwhelming power to deliver atomic retaliation against an aggressor.

Taylor testified the chiefs have never reached complete agreement on how many Army divisions, Navy ships and Air Force wings will be required.

As a result, Taylor said, the secretary of defense does the best he can to determine the forces necessary to put into effect the agreed strategy.

This drew the ire of subcommittee Chairman George Mahon (D., Tex.), who accused the joint chiefs of not helping Congress and the defense secretary and of leaving "the American people out on a limb."

Mahon said the chiefs should "keep their feet to the fire" until they reach decisions on such matters as how many divisions the Army should have, whether more B52 jet bombers are needed, and whether another 300-million-dollar supercarrier should be built for the Navy.

It'll Be Fair For Most Part

Fair and warm is Florida's weather outlook for today but there'll be a few showers over the Gold Coast, the weatherman said.

The sun should poke through much of the day — and gusty southerly winds will diminish to about 10 to 15 miles an hour, he added.

Temperatures are expected to remain about the same — in the mid-70s to low 80s — throughout the state.

To Discuss Berlin

Russians Accept Geneva Conference

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS
The New York Times Service

MOSCOW — The Soviet government Monday formally accepted the Western proposal for a foreign ministers' conference in Geneva May 11 to discuss a German peace treaty and the question of West Berlin.

Similar notes were handed to the ambassadors of the U.S., Britain and France in Moscow by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The remarkably short notes, according to a Tass summary, expressed the regret of the Soviet government that the West had not invited Poland and Czechoslovakia to take part.

However, the notes made it clear the Soviet Union intends to introduce this issue when the foreign ministers of the four great powers convene.

The Soviet Union agreed with the Western proposal that representatives of East and West advisers.

It also noted "with pleasure" that the Western powers had decided to propose a foreign ministers conference which would be followed by a meeting of the heads of government.

There was no sign of contention or qualification in the notes which were handed to Ambassadors Lewellyn Thompson of the U.S., Sir Patrick Riley of Britain and Maurice DeJean of France.

The notes were in reply — given in record time — to the proposals for the foreign ministers' conference made by the Western governments March 26.

U.S. Bases Held 'Void' In Japan

Court Rules Them Violation

TOKYO — (AP) — The Tokyo district court ruled Monday the presence of U.S. bases and troops here violated the "no war" clause of Japan's constitution.

The court made the decision in acquitting seven men indicted in 1957 after breaking into the U.S. Air Force's Tachikawa base outside Tokyo to protest its expansion.

The men had been accused of violating the special criminal code covering American bases and personnel.

The court, in freeing them, said the Japanese government's agreement to the establishment of American bases violated article nine of the nation's postwar constitution, which was largely written by American occupation officials.

"The fact that American military forces could, if military strategy so necessitated, dispatch its forces in Japan to areas outside our country, and the fact that in view of the nature of the U.S.-Japan security pact, American forces would be likely, if Japan were subjected to attack, to spring into action, mean that American military forces themselves are fulfilling a role prohibited under article 9, clause 2 of the constitution," the court said.

(In Washington, the State and Defense departments took the position that any comment from them would be improper at this time. But U.S. officials said informally that the court ruling has raised an important issue that will have to be clarified.)

The government has 14 days in which to appeal to a higher court.

Boys Die Inside Oven

ANTIGO, Wis. — (AP) — Two boys suffocated in a charcoal oven Sunday while their woodsman father thought they were at a movie with neighbors. The bodies were found Monday after a search that started when the neighbors returned without the youngsters.

Dead were Larry Kalkofen, 13, and his six-year-old brother Wayne. They were found by their father, Evan, and Langlade County deputies who were called in to help look for the two.

Authorities said that Wayne apparently had climbed a ladder to the top of the six-foot kiln and squeezed through a small trap door in the top. His brother was believed to have entered in an effort to rescue the younger child. Although there had been no fire in the oven for 36 hours, it still was filled with fumes.

Decision Expected To Affect South's Civil Rights Cases

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A sharply-split Supreme Court ruled Monday that trial for the same offense in both federal and state courts is not offensive to the Constitution.

The question was posed in two separate cases involving interpretations of the double jeopardy clause of the Constitution's Fifth Amendment and the due process clause of the 14th Amendment. The court split 5-4 in one case and 6-3 in the other.

It was an issue involving also some practicalities of the present day, on the one hand, and Western civilization's long-held idea that, as Justice Hugo Black put it, "one trial and one punishment were enough."

One of the practical questions is whether the federal government could enforce civil rights laws in the South if a federal trial was barred by a state trial. A man accused of a civil rights offense might, for instance, be given a quick trial and a small fine in a state court and the federal government be barred from further proceeding against him.

Government counsel argued in one case that if federal prosecution were barred a result could be a hobbling of federal law enforcement in areas "where particular federal laws may be locally unpopular."

The court divided 5-4 in upholding the state court conviction of Alfonse Bartkus of Chicago on charges of taking part in the July 1953 robbery of a savings and loan association in Cicero, Ill.

Bartkus was first tried in Federal Court in Chicago, since the institution was federally insured. He was acquitted.

Then he was indicted in Cook County Criminal Court, convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment under the Habitual Criminal Act.

Justice Hugo Black noted in a dissenting opinion that this was the first time the high court has ever specifically said that a defendant may be brought to trial in a state court after he has been acquitted in a federal court.

Black, in his dissenting opinion, in which Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice William O. Douglas joined, argued that Bartkus' acquittal in Federal Court barred a second trial in any other court in the U.S. He said this is so because of the provision of the Fifth Amendment that no person shall "be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb."

For the majority, Justice Felix Frankfurter said the courts have interpreted their rules as not barring a second prosecution where the first prosecution was by a different government and for violation of a different statute.

In the 6-3 decision, the court upheld federal prosecution of two men on conspiracy charges after they had pleaded guilty to similar charges in an Illinois court.

In this case, Justice William J. Brennan spoke for the majority. He said federal law enforcement would be hindered if federal authorities could

Capt. Herman Marks

Castro's 'Headsman' Is Ex-Con

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — Capt. Herman Marks, who has risen to the post of executioner for Cuban Rebel Chief Fidel Castro, left a long criminal record behind him in the States. Warden John C. Burke of Wisconsin State Prison, where Marks served 3½ years for a morals offense, describes him as "a real stinker."

Marks, a native of Milwaukee, has made no secret of his Wisconsin connections, or, for that matter, of his police record. Files at the prison and at the Milwaukee County sheriff's office show the slim, 37-year-old firing squad boss has at least 32 arrests in the U.S. behind him.

His record includes arrests for auto theft, robbery, burglary, assault, drunken driving and disorderly conduct. The prison term of one to four years was imposed Jan. 12, 1952, on a charge of carnal knowledge and abuse of a minor girl.

Judge Seizes Trial Pictures

APPLING, Ga. —(AP)— Film used by a news photographer to take pictures at a murder trial was ordered destroyed by Superior judge F. Frederick Kennedy.

Vernon Gould, on assignment for The Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle and Herald, had made two time exposures without Kennedy's permission.

Kennedy observed the action, called Gould before him, and ordered a sheriff to seize the film. He then decreed that the film be destroyed.

Fidel Has Official Corruption Under Control

Take Him to Lunch; That's 'Bribe' for Cuban

* * *

Low Pay a Danger

Cuba's hero premier, bearded Fidel Castro, has wiped out bribery in government officialdom, but low salaries of his ministers and top aides leave the door open for the return of corruption.

In this last of a series, The Herald's John McDermott discusses that aspect of the revolutionary government's weaknesses, plus the still-flourishing business of Havana bordellos.

* * *

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Foreign Affairs Writer

HAVANA—Corruption built on prostitution is still rampant in Havana — but generally it's becoming almost impossible to bribe government officials anymore.

About the closest anyone comes in the bribe department now is taking an underpaid official — they all are underpaid — to lunch or dinner.

In fact, the pay scale is so low that it is almost asking too much of human nature for a Cuban official not to take money "under the table."

Cabinet ministers, for example, make about $400 a month and government secretaries get only $67 a month before deductions.

Yet, unquestionably the prime accomplishment of the revolutionary government under hero-Premier Fidel Castro is the abolition of graft.

Castro also has wiped out bolita, the racket-infested numbers game which drains the pennies and dollars from the low wage earner who can least afford it.

Castro also has curbed the narcotics rackets, warning that the death penalty will be decreed against violators in both the illicit numbers and dope schemes.

But while Castro has made honesty the paramount virtue in officialdom, there is a decided lack of it on the streets, in back alleys and behind many a shuttered blind here.

Prostitutes and procurers ply their trades along the Prado and other avenues from dusk until dawn.

With the island nation's growing unemployment problem, chances are prices will be cut as new members join the ranks and competition for the not-so-plentiful tourist dollar becomes more intense.

These days, they are quoting a price of $15.

As for buying an official a meal, many of these young followers of the bearded rebel Prime Minister are deeply appreciative of the invitation.

And why shouldn't they be when the take-home salary of many is less than $100 per month even though they hold responsible positions?

"If I accepted the bribes offered me every day, I could

Nehru Spurns 'Gag' Yoke Demanded by Red China

Prime Minister Voices Sympathy For Tibet Rebels

NEW DELHI, India — (AP) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru declared India's sympathy for Tibetan rebels Monday. He spurned Red China's attempt to smother Indian parliamentary discussion of the rebellion.

But he held to his hands-off policy toward the revolt, and turned down demands in parliament that India promise to admit all Tibetan refugees, as Austria did in the 1956 Hungarian revolt.

"There are many vast differences in this situation," Nehru said when asked about following the Austrian example. "Obviously I cannot say that if large crowds come we will automatically admit them all. I tell you we would not admit them. No country could or should say it will admit everybody that comes."

Nehru faced a barrage of questions as parliament met for the first time since the Red Chinese government announced Saturday it had suppressed a major revolt in Lhasa, capital of the isolated mountain land, thrown out the government of the Buddhist god-king, the Dalai Lama, and elevated in his place his rival, the Panchen Lama.

The event has stirred widespread feeling in India because of long nurtured trade and religious links with the Tibetans.

Thousands of Buddhists in Ladakh, a province of Kashmir, adopted a resolution asking India to intervene to "save the Buddhist religion and shrines in Tibet."

Peiping has said 4,000 rebels were captured, and Tibetan sources have reported 5,000 were killed in a bloody two days in the lofty capital behind the Himalayas.

Christine's Wedding Hits Snag

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Christine Jorgensen, an ex-GI who underwent a series of operations in Copenhagen to turn him into a woman, tried Monday to get a marriage license to wed an Illinois man, but was stalled by puzzled city lawyers.

CHRISTINE

Wearing a mink coat, Christine, 33, appeared at City Hall with the husband-to-be, Howard J. Knox, of Waukegan, Ill. Assistant Corporation Counsel Albert Cooper called in five assistants to mull over the problem.

While the lawyers pondered the question of Christine's sex, Knox revealed that he had been previously married and did not have his divorce papers with him. The lawyers said that settled it for the moment, anyway. A divorced person must have proof of a valid divorce before a marriage license can be issued.

The couple said they would return.

Miss Patricia Wilson, Christine's personal manager, said the couple had completed premarriage examinations, including blood tests, and that the only thing holding up the issuing of a license was Knox's divorce papers. She said Knox planned to go to Washington today, where he is a statistician for a union, and then fly to Chicago to pick up the necessary papers.

Miss Wilson said the physical examinations were given by Dr. Henry Ross. The doctor refused to comment.

Christine, who has appeared in several night club acts, filled the blank marked "occupation" by writing in "performer."

In 1945, Christine — then George Jorgensen Jr.—entered military service. Five years later he went to Denmark for a series of treatments, after which the ex-soldier announced that George had become Christine.

not prosecute for crimes because a state had prosecuted similar criminal acts violating its own laws.

This case involved Louis Joseph Abbate and Michael Louis Falcone. They pleaded guilty in Cook County Criminal Court to charges of conspiring to blow up facilities belonging to two telephone companies on Aug. 15, 1955. They were sentenced to 90 days each in jail.

Later they were tried in U.S. District Court in Biloxi, Miss., for conspiracy to destroy telephone circuits operated or controlled by the U.S. Convicted by a jury June 22, 1956, Abbate received a three-year prison term and was fined $1,000. Falcone was sentenced to one year in prison.

Pawns in Miami Divorce

3 Boys Guarded After Plot Fails

By C. G. BERNING
Herald Staff Writer

Three boys, pawns in a four-year-old Miami divorce suit, were placed under guard by their wealthy father in Palm Springs, Calif., Monday after police said an Easter Sunday attempt to abduct them failed.

One of the boys, David Raese, six, escaped by jumping into a swimming pool. His brothers, Richard, 10, and John, eight, were pulled screaming into a station wagon which took off with a car posse of horn-honking nieghbors in pursuit.

Blocked at an accident scene four miles down the road in the plush desert resort city, Richard Moulton, San Jose private detective, and Charles Lewis, San Jose railroad conductor, told police they had been offered $5,000 to get the boys for their mother, Mrs. Jane Raese Kelly, of Palm Beach, Fla.

They were jailed for investigation of child stealing.

The boys and their father, Richard Raese, executive vice-president of Greer Steel Co., Morgantown, W. Va., had been visiting in Palm Springs.

Police Lt. Robert White said Mrs. Kelly, who has a home in Palm Beach, is known to have been in Palm Springs Sunday, but could not be located immediately.

She sued for divorce in Miami Jan. 18, 1955, charging Raese with jealousy. His counter suit charged her with extreme cruelty and adultery, naming Horace Brenton Kelly, a dancing instructor, also known as Lee Taylor, whom she married.

He said they started taking dancing lessons together after their Aug. 3, 1943, marriage in Morgantown, but when he left town on business, she started taking two dancing lessons daily.

Circuit Judge George E. Holt's divorce decree on May 3, 1955, gave the mother custody during school terms with permission for the father to take them out of the state during Christmas, Easter and summer vacations.

Judge Holt sentenced Raese to six months and a $1,500 fine on Jan. 4, 1957, for contempt after complaints that he failed to repay her $50,000 and return the three boys to a Palm Beach private school.

She showed Judge Holt a letter in which Raese told her he could not justify surrender of his children to Kelly's influence.

Yankee, 8, Sends Last $1 to Rebs

The eight-year-old boy, a third-grade pupil at West Hartford, Conn., wrote a letter to Jay W. Johns, president of the Stonewall Jackson Memorial Inc., and enclosed a dollar.

"I am a Confederate fan," Richard wrote. "I have my own library of books and I have just finished reading Robert E. Lee and Young Stonewall Jackson. I have my own Civil War collection of bullets and other things . . .

"I have gathered newspapers and rags. I sold them to the junkman and got a dollar. I hear that you need money to buy battlefields that Gen. Stonewall Jackson fought on. So I am enclosing my dollar.

"Sometime later I will send another one for the cause. Because right now I haven't any."

Johns noted that so far two sites in Jackson's battlefields in the Shenandoah Valley have been purchased for development as tourist centers during the coming Civil War Centennial.

Ayre Sues Philbrick For Libel

A half-million-dollar libel suit against W. L. Philbrick and his funeral home was filed Monday in Circuit Court by Dr. J. Ernest Ayre, director of the Cancer Institute at Miami.

The doctor complained that Philbrick called him a "quack" in a letter which was widely circulated last December to institute officials.

In another letter, the suit charges, Philbrick said Ayre had "defiled and ridiculed the medical profession" and had "hoodwinked the osteopathic doctors as well as the medical profession."

The letters were circulated after the eruption of an internal dispute within the institute.

Philbrick, former institute first vice president, has been seeking the removal of Ayre as Institute director and the affiliation of the Institute with the University of Miami Medical School.

After the dispute broke into the open, the institute's fund-raising Woman's Corps withdrew itself from control of the Board of Directors and became autonomous.

Commenting on the suit, Philbrick said:

"As a director and officer of the institute, it was my obligation to the people who have been giving money to protect their interest, and to see that the money was spent for the purpose for which it was raised."

Brazil's First Lady Told 'Dinner's Off'

The wife of Brazil's president, on her way to Miami for a banquet in her honor, has been asked to make other plans for dinner, a spokesman for the Pan American Cancer Cytology Society said Monday.

The spokesman said that the society's banquet — at which Madam Sarah Kubitshek was to receive an award for promoting cancer education — has been postponed to avoid "an international incident."

The society feared, he said, that Brazil's first lady "might become unnecessarily embroiled" in a Miami Cancer Institute squabble between two factions of directors.

The spokesman said the award banquet for Madam Kubitshek, originally scheduled for mid-April, will be held later "when a more suitable time and place can be selected."

quickly become a rich man," one official commented. "Bribery was one of the wrongs in the Batista dictatorship which we fought to correct. So none of us takes bribes anymore."

Then he grinned.

"This is the only kind of a 'bribe' I will take," he declared, cutting a steak as we talked in a Havana restaurant.

The low salaries are not the fault of Castro. Salaries are decreed by the Cuban constitution or by law.

The amounts paid invite corruption. The Prime Minister himself makes only $360 per month. Last month Castro turned his over to charity.

Raul Castro, the Premier's brother who heads the rebel army, draws $125 monthly plus some military benefits. The secretary general of the Prime Ministry makes only $260 and his immediate department heads get $118 before retirement deductions.

Castro has an organization of honest, inexperienced youths running many government offices today. He needs stability and sound planning.

It is touch-and-go now as to whether he will succeed or collapse.

Ruling Hits Batista's Brother

By ARTHUR JOHNSEY
Herald Staff Writer

U.S. Immigration authorities said Monday they have ruled that a brother of deposed Cuban dictator Fulgencio Batista is "inadmissible" to this country.

They said that Francisco Batista, 55, has already started an appeal to the Board of Immigration Appeals.

The ex-dictator's younger brother is now living near Biscayne Bay in Miami's northeast section with his wife and children, and is operating a Hialeah steel products firm.

Special Immigration Inquiry Office Luke White said the ruling on Batista's inadmissibility is based on the Cuban's entry here without a visa. Similar rulings, now being appealed, have been issued in cases of others who fled when the Batista government fell.

Monday, immigration also began a hearing to determine whether former Cuban Sen. Rolando Masferrer and his two brothers may stay in the country. The hearing was adjourned until April 15.

The handsome Rolando, sometimes described by rebels as the most hated man in Cuba, and brothers Rodolfo and Faimundo have been here since they fled at the fall of Batista.

District Immigration Director Joseph Savoretti said "We are treating all alike, regardless of their political affiliation."

The blond boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blitch Sr., of 11925 SW 186th St., was born in Fort Lauderdale but moved here before his first birthday.

A fourth grader at South Miami Heights Elementary School he is also survived by his sister, Peggy, and his grandparents, Mrs. and Mrs. J. M. Blitch and Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Chandler, Miami.

Services will be at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in the South Miami First Methodist Church, under direction of the King Funeral Home. Burial will be in Flagler Memorial Park.

Castro's A Symbol To Masses

By WILLIAM GAUDET
Special To The Herald

HAVANA — It's ironic but Fidel Castro possesses more power today than any dictator in Cuban history, including Fulgencio Batista, the "strong man" he booted out of office.

Whether Cuba comes out of the revolution for better or worse depends on how the bearded liberator uses this power.

Unknown is whether he intends to follow through with some of the wild schemes he has advanced in mob-appeal speeches, or whether he is merely boasting while still flushed with victory.

Thus far, Castro has made a series of blunders, political and economic, which would have been fatal to any government with less mass appeal.

His hold on the people lies in the symbol of honesty, freedom and democracy he represents.

There is more devotion to the spirit of the revolution and what it symbolizes than to Castro himself.

And under no circumstances do the Cuban people want to go back to the bribery, corruption, human indignities and totalitarianism of the Batista era.

There is an undercurrent of fear that if Castro is pushed from his perch the result would be chaos and confusion and, perhaps, a return to life as known under Batista.

Also beneath the surface is the feeling that the rantings of Castro are not to be taken at face value.

There is tremendous publicity value in standing before the Presidential Palace and telling the crowds how he is going to bring about the downfall of Caribbean despots, nationalize industry in Cuba, and increase the welfare of the workers.

But most U.S. businessmen here and intelligent Cubans do not believe these plans will get beyond the talking stage—unless provoked by unforeseen developments.

Actually, in one of his most recent speeches, Castro told Cubans they must be patient before all the past ills and injustices are to be corrected.

This is interpreted as a healthy sign, perhaps the turning point from the radical and irrational to the realistic business of running a democratic government.

National Summary

Cloudiness blanketed most of the eastern half of the nation from the Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic during midday with occasional rain from Illinois into the northern plains associated with a low pressure area center over North Dakota. A disturbance near the entrance to Chesapeake Bay resulted in rain from North Carolina mixed with rain from New York into Southern New England. Cloudy to partly cloudy weather will prevail from the Rockies to the Atlantic through tomorrow with periods of rain from the North and Central plains to the East Coast excepting the extreme northeast during the same period. Scattered thunderstorms are forecast from Kansas and Oklahoma into the Ohio and Tennessee Valleys through Tuesday.

Temperatures in the north and central plains states were mostly in the 40s and 50s with reading in the 60s and 70s reported over the southern plains while the thermometer registered the 30s and 40s in the Great Lakes region where Cleveland observed a 45 with a 76 in Abilene, Texas. Along the East Coast temperatures varied from the 30s and 40s in New England and as far south as Virginia to the 80s in Southern Florida where West Palm Beach reported a 83 while the nations capital had a 41 and Portland, Maine observed a 45.

Tampa Eyes Loophole; Jax Waits

Law Keeps Slums in Two More Cities

Slums are spreading in Florida while their growth is being halted by Urban Renewal in other states.

Here is another of a series of reports by David Kraslow and Juanita Greene on The Herald staff on Florida's blight and what can be done to cure it.

FLORIDA'S SHAME

By JUANITA GREENE
Herald Staff Writer

Two large Florida cities have prepared plans and are ready, now, to obtain help from two powerful allies in solving their slum problems. But they are blocked from obtaining that aid by Florida law.

The two cities are Jacksonville and Tampa. Both cities want the help of the Federal government and private enterprise to fight the blight of slums.

The plans have been drawn. Red lines on big maps block out the worst slum sections in both cities. The shacks within these red lines are doomed to demolition.

But the bulldozers haven't started moving. The eager allies haven't signed the pact. And the two cities fight frustration — one actively, one passively.

The State Supreme Court has interpreted it to mean no city can sell to private enterprise any land it has acquired by condemnation — not even if the condemnation was for slum clearance.

The result is that Florida is virtually cut off from the big flow of federal funds available under Urban Renewal. The program pays two thirds the city's loss in buying and clearing slum land and re-selling to private owners.

Tampa thinks it has found a legal loophole through which it may siphon some of Uncle Sam's millions into its blight areas. The city's Urban Renewal agency has gone ahead and applied for the funds, hoping a special law allowing it to do so will hold up in court.

But city officials admit, off the record, they might not get away with it. The best, and perhaps the only solution, they say, is a constitutional amendment.

Jacksonville has simply put its big plans back in the files until such time as the state law is changed.

Its mayor, Hayden Burns, has lush hopes the Florida League of Municipalities will succeed in persuading the Legislature to offer the amendment to the people of Florida.

"We've got a lot of problems we simply can't handle under present law," said Burns. "But they could be solved by private enterprise, if given the help available under Urban Renewal."

By putting public buildings and parking lots on land once covered by dilapidated buildings, both Jacksonville and Tampa have improved downtown riverfronts.

Here's how the city, the federal government, and private enterprise would attack, if Florida law allowed:

JACKSONVILLE

The 25 square blocks in the darkest part of Black Bottom would be condemned, and cleared by the city. It would fill the land, now so low it frequently floods, and build new streets and utilities.

It would keep wide strips along two busy streets—Park and Riverside — as parking lots for nearby business areas. The rest of the land would be sold to private developers, who would build apartment houses and a small shopping center on it.

TAMPA

The 21 square block Maryland Ave. project would include all phases of Urban Renewal—redevelopment for residential, commercial and industrial use.

A strip along a railroad would be sold to someone who wanted to put light industry there. It would be separated from the rest of the tract by a wide street.

A small part of the remaining land would be set aside for stores and other commercial buildings.

The city would keep plots for a park and a playground. A new junior high school and several church buildings, now in the area would remain.

All the rest of the tract would be sold to a developer, who would put up houses and apartment buildings. The new community would be all Negro, as the old one is now.

Then, between downtown Tampa and Ybor City, the famous Latin community, would be, in the words of A. R. Ragsdale, Tampa's Urban Renewal Chairman, "a nice area for Negroes."

Many of the 420 displaced families could move back in, buying the new homes under that part of the Urban Renewal program which gives them 100 per cent FHA insurance on no-down-payment, 40-year mortgages.

And the builders of the apartment houses would get federal insurance that would make it easy to obtain financing.

Blotting out 33 acres of its worst slums, said Ragsdale, would benefit everybody in Tampa.

"We would be getting rid of a bad cancer that is threatening everything around it," said Ragsdale.

2 Politicos Say They're 'Tops'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — New England reporters in the Congressional Press Galleries received a press release describing Reps. Donald J. Irwin (D., Conn.) and John V. Lindsay (R., N.Y.) as "two of the youngest and most promising members of Congress."

It said both have "been described as outstanding representatives of their respective parties for whom highly successful political futures have been preducted."

The release was signed jointly by Irwin and Lindsay.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Navy scientists have taken the first detailed photographs of the entire sun from above the earth's atmosphere in the sun's fundamental hydrogen wave-length.

"A historic event in terms of study of the sun," said Hugh Odishaw of the U. S. Committee for the International Geophysical Year at a news conference Monday.

About 60 pictures were taken in less than a minute with a 35-pound spectographic camera in the nose of an Aerobee-Hi research rocket 123 miles above the White Sands, N. M., Proving Grounds March 13.

They showed large, whitish splotches, identified by ascending columns of very hot, turbulent hydrogen gases as much as 1,000 miles high and 1,000 miles across. And there was a darker background of cooler hydrogen clouds.

Mysterious dark filaments, or lines, appeared, including two parallel ones at about the latitude of a southern polar region.

"This is not what we expected to get, but what we dreamed off," was the comment made on the pictures by Dr. Richard Tousey, head of the rocket spectoscopy branch of the Naval Research Laboratory.

The photos were taken in the hydrogen wave-length or Lyman-Alpha region of the solar spectrum. It is the extreme ultra-violet region midway between the kind of light visible to the human eye and that of X-rays. Cameras must be raised 50 miles or more above the earth to get into the Lyman-Alpha line of hydrogen before it is absorbed in the atmosphere.

Taken in this region, Tousey said, the photos "for the first time show solar activity in a wavelength that experts profound control on radio short-wave communications."

To astronomers, the sun has as many different faces as there are wave-lengths of radiation from which to observe it. Other photos are being taken in other wave-lengths.

Comparison of the solar phenomena mapped at widely different wave-lengths probably will throw new light on the process by which solar energy, released inside the sun by nuclear reactions, reaches the surface and escapes, making possible life on our planet, Tousey said.

The latest Navy photos "clearly show that the radiation is emitted from spots and patches over the solar surface —rather than uniformly — and this helps us to understand the reasons for the wide range of variations and rapid changes in quality of radio propagation," Tousey said.

"Eventually," he added, "such rocket astronomy techniques will permit us to photograph the sun routinely in the most important short-wave radiations and to give us daily solar weather reports for predictions of terrestrial responses."

Dr. Herbert Friedman, superintendent of NRL's atmosphere and astrophysics division, said this is the first time sun pictures of optical quality had been taken "in a wave-length that is extremely important" — representing the strongest single emission of light in the spectrum.

Red China Sending Men And Ammo to Algerians

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

PARIS — The staff of the Red Chinese embassy in Tirana, Albania's capital, has been massively increased in recent weeks. It now exceeds the staff of the Russian embassy in the Soviet's only Mediterranean satellite.

The French suspect Peiping is using Albanian seaports for an extensive traffic of ammunition going to the Algerian Fellaghas.

According to Paris reports, Red Chinese volunteers are trained in Albania and made ready to join Fellagha forces.

Police Dampen Akihito's Reception

TOKYO — (UPI) — Police have put a damper on plans of thousands of Japanese to greet Crown Prince Akihito and his bride with an old-fashioned blowout on their wedding day.

They issued orders prohibiting the use of serpentine, confetti and balloons and made it illegal to sound horns "excessively" along the route of the wedding procession April 10.

'No-Loser' Lottery In Cuba

The New York Times Service

HAVANA — The first drawing of Cuba's new-type lottery in which no one can lose was held by the Institute of Savings and Housing, which was created to substitute for the traditional Cuban National Lottery.

The one large prize offered, $100,000, was won by Marcos Mesa of Santiago de Cuba. One thousand prizes of $100 each are also offered.

The issue, now called bonds instead of tickets, was 40,000 with each having 100 fractions. Each fraction sold to the public at 25 cents and the seller, who according to law must be an individual and purchase directly from the institute, earned three cents on each fraction which he purchased for 22 cents. The bonds which do not win prizes will be redeemed at the end of one year at 40 per cent of their value and during the next 10 years in a rising scale to 125.4 per cent of their value.

According to Senorita Pastorita Nunez, director of the institute, all the issue was sold, netting the government $618,400 after deducting expenses of seven per cent. This money will be used to redeem the bonds and to build houses for workers in the lower bracket incomes. The first group of the 100 million dollars worth of homes has been started on land across the bay from Havana now reached through an under-bay tunnel built by the Batista regime.

Mediator Acts to Halt Full-Scale Walkout

100 Missile Base Workers Strike

PATRICK AIR FORCE BASE — About 100 construction workers walked off their jobs Monday as a federal mediator began a last-minute effort to head off a full-scale strike of construction workers here and at Cape Canaveral.

A Transport Workers Union official also demanded that Congress investigate the administration of the Atlantic missile range and the pay of range employes.

If seasoned Federal Mediator William McAlister fails to obtain agreement between three unions and the Patrick AFB Contractors Association by midnight tonight an estimated 1,500 men are due to walk out — halting construction on 60 million dollars worth of work.

Ironworkers, millwrights and carpenters are seeking a five-cent-an-hour pay boost, a 10-cent-an-hour "welcome fund" and a one-year contract. The 200 contractors here have offered a 2½-cent hourly increase and a two-year contract.

The Transport Workers demand was voiced by Jack Flaherty, president of the Cape TWU local. He charged that Pan American World Airways has allowed government equipment to rust, that the operating contractor has "misused" funds and is violating several federal pay acts.

Florida Bar Elects Miami Lawyer Chief

TALLAHASSEE — Selection of Miami Attorney Clyde Atkins as president-elect of the Florida Bar was announced here Monday. Florida Bar officers are chosen a year in advance. Atkins will not take office until 1960.

J. Lewis Hall, Tallahassee attorney, will be sworn in as 1959-60 president at the annual state bar convention in Miami Beach May 21-23.

The bar also announced reelection of W. O. Mehrtens and Reginald L. Williams, both of Miami.

Turnpike Extension Called 'Brighter'

FORT LAUDERDALE — With new traffic and revenue records being set every month, the possibility of extending the Florida Turnpike "gets brighter every day," a Sunshine State Parkway official said Monday.

Al Hinton, Turnpike public relations director, predicted that March's traffic and revenue would set an all-time record for the two-year-old road. February's $476,607 gross revenue was seven per cent above the January total and 21 per cent higher than in February, 1958. A total of 369,272 vehicles used the Turnpike last month.

State Employment Continues to Climb

'Moonshine's' Not Too Bright

Asked in Criminal Court to describe how he obtained and later sold an ounce of bulk marijuana to an undercover State Narcotics Agent, Jazz Drummer Richard Barr Hanson told Judge Gene Williams Monday:

You know, it's like getting somebody a glass of moonshine whisky."

Judge Williams said he "didn't know" and would sentence Hanson — who pleaded guilty — Thursday morning.

Alabama's Governor Visits

They will remain in the Miami area until Wednesday or Thursday, the governor's press secretary said.

The Primary Deserves Taps

FLORIDA is one of 18 states that have clung to the institution of the Presidential Primary—trial heats for the White House course. Minnesota, the 19th, has dropped its primary, and we hope that Florida will do the same.

These preference primaries are supposed to indicate grassroots sentiment that will bind or guide state delegations to the party nominating conventions.

Sometimes they do. The New Hampshire primary of 1952 started Dwight D. Eisenhower on his way to the White House. In the same primary Estes Kefauver swept the Democratic votes, but that was prophetic of nothing. In 1956 Senator Kefauver upset Adlai Stevenson in Minnesota's primary, while in Florida the two beat their brains out with the reverse result. And according to primary results four years earlier, the late Sen. Robert A. Taft should have been the nominee.

So the history of these contests goes. Clearly, they have outlived their usefulness.

IN ORLANDO next weekend the state Democratic committee will ponder the fate of Florida's primary, which is still scheduled for May, 1960. If the sentiment recorded in regional party meetings is the ruling one, the committee will recommend and the Legislature this year will sound the death knell of the primary.

For another, it handcuffs the state delegations.

Lastly and not unimportantly, it exhausts the candidates and the public.

For An Act Of Humanity

TWIN SPECTERS of starvation and sickness are haunting the northwest tip of Haiti, where no rain has fallen for a year. Death is a familiar story to the peasants who see their fields lie baked under the relentless sun.

A moving story of the suffering in this area only a few hours' flight from Miami was given Herald readers Sunday by Staff Writer Evelyn DeTardo. She wrote from first-hand knowledge.

Haiti may be too poor and too troubled to help her own people in this time of famine. But the United States is burdened with surplus food for which there is no market. Prompt action to get some of this oversupply to the hungry mouths on our doorstep would be an act of humanity.

Tibet Gets The Puppet Act

TIBET, the unhappy boarder in the attic of Red China, now has a new ruling lama who presumably will be called "People's Democratic Lama"—a young monk long held in reserve for the day when Tibetan nationalism would be overthrown.

Such is the tardy news from Peiping, which claims to have crushed the latest uprising in Tibet.

The Dalai Lama has been replaced by the Panchen Lama, a Red puppet. The 1951 treaty giving Tibet autonomy within Communist China has been torn to shreds. Our State Department properly denounced this "barbarous intervention" in the affairs of Tibet, but beyond this it is helpless to do anything.

In any Communist domain the longing for any kind of independence is "reactionary." So you send troops.

HOWEVER, we may not have heard the last of this little war high in the Himalayas.

Tibet and China proper have fought one another for a dozen centuries. Their natural and historic antipathy grew when the Red Chinese a few years ago began a program of forced labor to "modernize" the country.

Tibet evidently was happier in its feudalism, its isolation, and its theocratic government. One out of every six males is a priest. If this system is archaic, nevertheless it's significant that the Tibetans revolted not against their priests but against the Chinese Communists.

The revolution continues in southwest Tibet. While it is not likely to involve the outside world, surely it will engage the attention and the sympathy of everyone who loves freedom.

Douglas Gardens, An Inspiration

THE JEWISH HOME for the Aged at Douglas Gardens will be humming with activity all this week, culminating Sunday with the dedication of new buildings that will house 70 residents. There will also be a sheltered workshop — first of its kind in the South—and a research laboratory where significant studies will be made of the aging process.

The community is fortunate in having such an institution. It has pioneered in making life better for one group of older citizens. Workers report these residents have found a restored zest for living and a readiness to face the autumn years with courage and meaningfulness.

We in Greater Miami are well aware of the needs of senior citizens. Several groups and agencies are working to meet them. Achievements at Douglas Gardens will be an inspiration, showing what can be done through imagination and dedicated leadership.

Our Festival: Some Questions

TALK ABOUT another Festival of the Americas seems to be headed in the right direction. At least, all concerned want to avoid a repetition of last June's costly fiasco, which ran up a deficit of $60,000.

In their discussion of the subject yesterday, Miami City Commissioners made clear they will hold a tight check-rein on anything done along these lines this year. They mentioned $10,000 as the sum which might be contributed by the central city here. Their publicity director, Lew Price, is to report April 13 on the attitude of other taxing bodies and interested groups toward sharing the cost.

Whether the festival is a proper charge on the taxpayers is questionable. It isn't if it is used by public officials to return the hospitality extended to them in other countries.

Public enthusiams for the festival would be enhanced if it could be financed by contributions from businesses enjoying its benefits.

Then, too, the lack of a serious purpose gave the program a frothy air last year. Its prestige would be greater if it could be combined with some solid venture such as a trade fair or, perhaps, a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the Americas.

All the handicaps would disappear if the Inter-American Trade Center were a reality. Interama could and should sponsor such attractions year-round, without using taxpayers' money. Their value as a means of improving cultural and commercial interchange among the Americas is undebatable.

Telling Our Story Abroad

THE WORLD, and particularly the world behind the Iron Curtain, is getting a better image of the United States.

So says George V. Allen, director of the United States Information Agency, in a meaningful report of progress in the war of words.

The USIA is engaged in a constant effort to explain the spirit, the meaning and the vitality of this nation. It is a continuing as well as a highly specialized effort. In addition to the general flow of news and information, USIA swings into action at times of crisis. Who can measure this agency's contribution to the easing of tension over Berlin by its calm explanation that the U.S. could not in honor abandon its responsibilities? Did USIA make possible the solution to the Lebanon crisis?

We can only speculate on this but we know that USIA is winning friends and understanding for the free world. The latest report tells of increased effectiveness of the "Voice of America" programs. Russia "compliments" our success by stepped-up efforts to jam these highly effective radio broadcasts.

THERE IS MORE demand for U.S. books and magazines in the USSR and its puppets. More people visit our cultural centers and information offices around the globe.

Mr. Allen, the diplomat who scored so effectively in India, Persia and Yugoslavia, has done an excellent job of revitalizing our information program abroad. Only last year he was warning that we were outgunned in the radio propaganda war at the time when our voice should ring "loud and clear." Now he reports quiet, steady progress.

This relaxed approach may, indeed, be the secret for getting our story across. There is no need to shout the truth. Mr. Allen makes this plain in words that have the ring of sincerity:

"Amid the quick pace of daily developments—as newer and bigger satellites soared skyward on the one hand and American submarines plumbed the Arctic depths on the other—USIA tried to tell the American story soberly and factually, striving above all to convey to the rest of the world this country's basic interest in peace, freedom and progress."

By The Way

Everybody Won In This One

IN THESE days when winning seems all-important on the sports field to retain international prestige, little things sometimes happen to show that sportsmanship, unlike chivalry, is not dead.

Take the one that occurred in the swimming meet at Grand Bahama Island over the Easter weekend.

Florida swimmers far outdistanced representatives of the Virginia and Puerto Rican Amateur Athletic Unions. The competition was old stuff to the Floridians but new for the Commonwealth athletes who have just affiliated with the AAU.

Beaten, the Puerto Ricans were impressive. Victorious, the Floridians were even more so when Olympian Jack Nelson accepted the trophy and promptly presented it as a token of encouragement and recognition to the Puerto Rican coach.

All gained in stature and the bond that sports competition should tie.

Voice Of The People

Drew Mixes Haitian History

Editor The Herald: Under the caption, "Castro's Caribbean Goal Likened to Nasser Move," The Herald published the second part of a report by Drew Pearson on the "turbulent Caribbean."

In his analysis of the situation, as far as Haiti is concerned, the author contends:

1. "Beginning around 1800 when Haitian Negroes under Toussaint L'Ouverture rose up to murder French sugar planters, etc . . ."

2. "Despite his political naivete, President Duvalier seems to be doing a fairly good job. He had a reputation for honesty, also a reputation for going in for voodooism. He is jet black and belongs to the Haitian cult which has sworn war on mulattoes."

There never was around 1800 any uprising of the slaves in Saint-Domingue under the leadership of Toussaint L 'Ouverture to "murder the French sugar planters." The revolt against the tyrannous and ferocious planters started with Padrejean and Mackandal. Since then there were many more to come.

Galvanized rather than being disheartened by the unimaginable tortures invented by the inhuman colonists, the slaves decided to fight for their independence with their nails, their teeth and the arms they could steal.

On the other hand, there never has been any "cult" in Haiti to swear war on the mulattoes. If His Excellency the President of Haiti, Dr. Francois Duvalier, one of our most cultured products of the Haitian middle-class, ethnographer, ethnologist, sociologist following the path of Price-Mars, J. C. Dorsainvil, did devote himself to the study of Voodoo it was because he simply wanted to know his people, and not because he was or is "voodooising."

Dr. Duvalier and his numerous disciples do not profess any hatred against the mulattoes, nor does he belong to any "cult" praising and preaching such hatred. He hates, and we hate with him, all enemies of our country, whether they are mulattoes or jet black Negroes.

Even Admirals Are Not Safe

Editor The Herald: One of the best ways to start wars is blowing off at the mouth and the recent bragging of the admiral who boasts we can lick the hell out of Russia is a case in point. The paunchier and older they are the bigger the fight talk because they know that they can sit safely back in the plushier regions while the fighting is going on.

There's only one catch. In the next war the guy who pinches the Waves and sails a desk in the Pentagon will be part of the target.

A lot fewer surmising, bragging, and fearful predictions and a lot more concrete effort to get along with somebody who doesn't think like us might go a long way to prevent annihilation.

Keep Pensioner Dollar At Par

Editor The Herald: There are 15 million people in the U. S. trying to live on their pensions and savings. Of this number, 400,000 live in Florida. Their money helps to "keep Florida green."

We are all being robbed by inflation caused by wild government spending and borrowing. It is to the advantage of every citizen of Florida to bear down upon our representatives in Washington to stop inflation. We want to be able to live on our pensions and not be a burden to Florida.

A suggestion would be for every one of the 15 million to write protest letters to their representatives in Congress. Impress them with the fact that the big army of retirees wants the government's inflationary spending and borrowing halted.

Critics Hard? Look Backward

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

WHENEVER I overhear the chronic complaint that "the drama critics are too tough," I feel like sending the complainer back to the stacks to thumb through the yellowing drama reviews of yesteryear.

Harris

I was recently going through the files of The Chicago Daily News, and ran across a review by Amy Leslie, who was the reigning theater critic in 1895.

In reviewing a play, "The Foundling," starring Cissy Fitzgerald, Miss Leslie began bluntly: "Cissy is not worth seeing. She is plain, cannot dance a step and doesn't pretend to know how to act." Her review was headed: "The Massacre of 'The Foundling.' "

Warming up to her task, Miss Leslie continued: "Her chief talents are a preposterous self-complacency and well-made ruffles. As an artist this contented kitten cannot be taken seriously, for she is awkward, unturned, does not know or take a tutored step . . . She is hopelessly ungraceful, has big ankles and bad shoulders.

"The dress she wore last night was a nightmare of liver color streaked with brick-red, unbecoming and sufficiently English to kill even a handsome woman, which the Fitzgerald is not . . ."

A FEW days later, I chanced upon a review of the famous Cherry Sisters, written about the same time in an Iowa newspaper. This is what the then drama critic said:

"Effie is an old jade of 50 summers, Jessie a frisky filly of 40, and Addie, the flower of the family, a capering monstrosity of 35. Their long skinny arms, equipped with talons at the extremities, swung mechanically and waved frantically at the suffering audience.

"The mouths of their rancid features opened like caverns, and sound like the wailing of damned souls issued therefrom. They pranced around the stage with a motion that suggested a cross between the danse du ventre and a fox-trot—strange creatures with painted features and hideous mien.

"Effie is spavined, Addie is stringhalt, and Jessie, the only one to show her stockings, has legs with calves as classic in their outlines as the curves of a broom handle."

The Cherry Sisters, incidentally, sued for libel—and lost. They made the mistake of giving a performance in court, before the jury.

Behind The Front Page

These Compromises Fire Up Opposition

By JOHN D. PENNEKAMP

AS A LONG TIME follower of the reapportionment arguments I have been unable to find much general support for either of the two most frequently advanced proposals:

1—To give to Dade, and probably Duval, Hillsborough and other large counties, each having one senator, a second one.

Pennekamp

Both proposals are based largely on political expedience and compromise and would free the Legislature of a responsibility it has been flouting for 20 years or more.

The Constitution provides for 38 senatorial districts:

"—to be as nearly equal in population as practicable, but no county shall be divided in making such apportionment, and each district shall have one senator."

The Legislature has refused to do so.

IN FLORIDA the average population of the 38 districts in the 1950 census was approximately 73,000.

When adjustments are made for over-the-average districts the norm for each drops to about 60,000.

Yet we have one senatorial district — Jefferson County — with only 10,385 residents.

Several others have fewer than 20,000 and embrace only one county.

At the same time rapidly expanding Collier, Hendry, Lee and Monroe counties are linked in one district, with one senator for 65,617.

IN THE POPULOUS and middle counties the principal demand has been that the Legislature live up to the Constitution.

Sectionalism in the state being what it is, any suggestion that Dade wants additional representation in the Senate actually intensifies the opposition.

Fear of Dade County has been carefully planted among the residents of the less populous areas.

In all sincerity many believe (a) that Dade, and the other big counties, would work to get rid of the $5,000 homestead and (b) take away from them their split of the race track taxes, now about $170,000 a year for each county.

Neither proposal ever has been seriously advanced, but that truth hasn't penetrated into the far places of this state of great distances and cultural variations.

So Dade and the other big counties are offered the unwanted olive branch of an additional senator and the legislature's failure to obey the law is obscured in the turmoil.

★ ★ ★

NOR is the suggestion for increasing the number of senators favorably received.

Generally the people believe that both the Senate and the House (with 95 members) are large enough.

Thus while politicians employ that expediency, proposing various "formulas" it, too, serves to keep the embroiled subject from reaching a conclusion on harmony with the Constitution.

A FEW YEARS ago the National Municipal Review published a state by state comparison of legislative representation.

It showed only six states to be worse off than Florida, where 17.67 per cent of the voters can elect a majority of the Senate. And only two were worse than Florida in House of Representative representation because 17.19 percent of the voters can elect a majority.

Best guess is that if the question of reapportionment emerges above other controversial measures headed for legislative consideration next week, a make-shift compromise will be offered the voters.

That, of course, would add up to another legislative evasion of the plain provisions of the Constitution.

Delay A Disgrace

Strauss Hearings Await Keef's Bomb

Strauss

Kefauver

Magnuson

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The petty performance which the Senate Commerce Committee is putting on with its mock hearings on confirmation of Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce, is, it seems to me, a discredit to the Senate and a disservice to decent government.

Drummond

What is happening is that by every devious and dilatory device some Democratic members of the committee are seeking to stall the hearings so interminably that somebody, somehow, will be able to turn up something discreditable to Adm. Strauss—or that he will be induced to resign in frustration. He won't.

Of course the somebody who is most intensely eager to turn up any tidbit which could be used against the secretary-designate is Sen. Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.).

Sen. Kefauver is not a member of the committee. Its chairman, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, (D., Wash.), by nature a man of good-will and fairness, for some reason seems willing to play Sen. Kefauver's little game of "let's-get-Lewis-Strauss."

★ ★ ★

I AM NOT suggesting that every policy and action which Adm. Strauss has initiated in a decade and a half of public service has been without error of judgment. I'd almost say he ought to be rejected if such a claim were true. But the facts which are pertinent are these:

Lewis Strauss has served three Presidents with equal loyalty and skill in posts of large responsibility.

When he was special assistant to Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, he did such a good job that he was decorated by both the Army and the Navy.

When he was a member of the Atomic Energy Commission in the Truman administration, he found himself the lone supporter of the H-bomb and when he won the backing of Mr. Truman, they together overcame the massive resistance to it.

When President Eisenhower in 1953 was looking for a way to demonstrate America's deep interest in furthering peace, it was Adm. Strauss who helped devise and supported the atoms-for-peace program.

AT TIMES Adm. Strauss has been a controversial figure. Any public official worth his salt will be.

Sen. Kefauver is aiming to find some way to show that Adm. Strauss had an unethical part in the short-lived Dixon-Yates contract by which a private company, instead of TVA, would provide some power for the Memphis area.

I suspect that Adm. Strauss wishes the Dixon-Yates contract had never been born. But the Department of Justice and the commissioner for the U.S. Court of Claims who examined the Dixon-Yates matter inside and out found no evidence adverse to Adm. Strauss.

And the committee's hearings on Secretary Strauss drag on. He was named last November. We are now almost to the fourth month of the present Congress and Chairman Magnuson calmly adjourned everything until after the Easter recess, still waiting obediently for Sen. Kefauver to unsheath his accusations.

★ ★ ★

NONE OF this reflects any credit on the Senate.

It impairs the morale of the Department of Commerce.

It makes it increasingly difficult for any President to get able and honorable men to serve the government when a Senate committee shows such calculated discourtesy to an able and honorable public servant like Lewis Strauss.

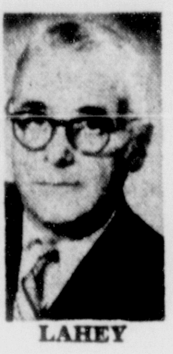
U.S. Is Abandoning Liberation Pretense

By EDWIN A. LAHEY

Chief Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The United States has just about dropped the pretense of its "liberation" policy.

The political repercussions of this bit of honesty remain to be seen in 1960.



LAHEY

Since 1948 both political parties have been making pious declarations about "liberation."

Although these declarations were probably founded in sincerity, they were directed for political purposes in election years at the millions of Americans of Polish, Lithuanian, Bohemian or Hungarian descent, who have strong emotions about the Communist captivity of their motherlands.

* * *

IN THE LAST WEEK alone, there have been three incidents to indicate that officials in Washington are coming around to face the fact that the Soviet Union has its Central European satellites securely under its thumb.

The logical consequence of this recognition is to forget all about the "liberation" talks, and act as though Communist rule were in Central Europe to stay, at least for the foreseeable future.

"Let's face it," says one government official. "Much of our talk about 'liberation' in past years was for campaign purposes."

In the U.S. note to the Soviet Union last Thursday, we said that our government "fully recognizes that Poland and Czechoslovakia have a legitimate and direct interest" in certain matters that the foreign ministers will discuss in May.

On the following day, the Department of State announced "the resumption of normal diplomatic relations reflecting the traditional friendship between the Bulgarian and American peoples."

While the Department of State in the foregoing words acknowledged some degree of international "equality" to three of the Soviet's satellite countries, it was also preparing for a "short term" settlement of the Berlin question, which will involve some token recognition of East Germany.

* * *

Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, on March 16, 1950:

"We do not insist that these governments have any particular political or social complexion. What concerns us is that they should be truly independent national regimes, with a will of their own and a decent foundation in popular feeling.

"We would like to feel, when we deal with these governments, that we are dealing with something representative of the national identity of the people in question."

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, on Jan. 15, 1953:

Republican Platform, Aug. 21, 1956:

Democratic Platform, Aug. 15, 1956:

"We declare our deepest concern for the plight of the peoples now under the yoke of Soviet dictatorship. Candidate Eisenhower's 1952 pledges to 'liberate' the captive peoples have been disavowed and dishonored."

The beginning of the end of this kind of mish-mash came a few months later, when the free world listened helplessly to the screams of men, women and children slaughter by Soviet guns in the Hungarian revolt.

There has been a steady trend toward "realism" ever since. All that is left of the old "liberation" policy is the hope that the peoples of Central Europe will work their own way out of the Communist yoke some day.

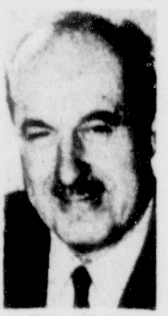
Washington Merry-Go-Round

Bad News Leaking Out Just As NATO Ministers Confer

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The top NATO foreign ministers begin sharpening up Western defense strategy in Washington today, just as bad news is leaking from the tightly censored Camp David talks.

It takes some time for the real news to leak out of a high-level conference, especially when only a few men are present and it is held in a mountain retreat.



PEARSON

However, more accurate details of the Macmillan-Eisenhower conference have now reached NATO diplomats and indicate a bad state of affairs between the leaders of the two great English-speaking nations.

Herewith, from different sources are the details.

* * *

FROM CAMP DAVID — Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan disagreed on almost everything except the general principle that they should stand firm on Berlin. Even here they didn't agree on how they should stand firm.

The British came away appalled at Ike's lack of homework. The President in turn began to think the British prime minister was almost as appeasement-minded as Neville Chamberlain, the umbrella-carrying prime minister who yielded to Hitler at Munich.

The British confided to commonwealth diplomats afterward that American leadership is tired and confused at a time when imaginative initiative is needed to prevent catastrophic war.

* * *

FROM DULLES'S BEDSIDE — The chances of John Foster Dulles coming back to the State Department seem less every day. He is losing weight steadily and the doctors are pessimistic.

The tenacious secretary of state has confided to intimates, however, that he is determined to help steer American foreign policy at least through the summer.

From the hospital and later from his home last week, he gave Prime Minister Macmillan some heavy-handed language regarding the danger of a summit meeting.

A pell-mell dash up the summit to meet with Khrushchev without adequate preparation, he said, would only smash Allied unity.

France and Germany are most important to NATO and are not anxious for a summit conference without careful preparation.

These two countries, he reminded Macmillan, are located on the European continent, and would be the first to fight in case of Russian attack.

Dulles did not put it in so many words, but his associates say he is determined to block a summit conference this summer if it's the last thing he does.

* * *

FROM NIXON'S HOME — The vice president was definitely miffed at not being invited to Camp David. In his press conference the President said Nixon was a very busy man, and implied that he was too busy to go to Camp David.

But the truth is that Nixon wanted to attend in the worst way. To make up for missing it, he held a special tea for the British prime minister.

The two got along famously — better than did the President and the prime minister.

Since then Nixon has been telling friends what a stanch ally we have behind Macmillan's droopy mustache, while Macmillan has been singing Nixon's praises.

* * *

FROM OTHER SOURCES — Though Ike is still hanging back regarding a summit conference without agreement in advance, the prime minister tempted him with the suggestion of using the Queen's Balmoral Castle in Scotland.

The golfing nearby is wonderful and in July you can play until 10 p.m.

Both men agreed that the talks must be held in a secluded spot where they could talk to Khrushchev intimately.

There were too many people at the Geneva Summit Conference in 1955.

* * *

FROM CAPITOL HILL — The President confessed to GOP congressional leaders that the only reason he agreed tentatively to a summit conference was to re-elect Prime Minister Macmillan. He would rather face Khrushchev across the conference table, he said, than face the prospect of a Labor government in England.

Of Doctors and Hospitals

Cost of His Survival Is Worth It!

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

EVERY ONCE IN A WHILE, someone writes on the high cost of medicine, the excessive utilization of hospitals, the unnecessary reference to specialists.

SOKOLSKY

As I read such articles, I cannot help wondering whether those writers write for nothing, whether they never ask for higher pay, and whether they never believe that they are underpaid considering their alleged talents.

I can go by my experience. During the past two or three years an exceptional proportion of my income has gone to doctors and hospitals, but the alternative would undoubtedly have been no income and beyond any doubt, a tombstone which would have cost more than my hospital bill.

In fact, half a century ago, nobody survived who had my combination of illnesses, and as the cost of burials has gone up with inflation, I figure that the doctors who kept me alive and fighting, did it at a very fair price.

How much is a life worth? I don't know, but I like to be alive. I enjoy every moment of it and if I must pay to stay alive, no price is too high.

* * *

THIS TREMENDOUS progress in saving lives and in making it possible for human beings to live longer and to achieve more and to continue to work under the most difficult physical circumstances has been made possible by doctors, surgeons, chemists, biochemists and hospitals. What is their work worth in dollars? Who can say?

I know that when I discovered that I had a malignant growth, I would have offered all I possessed to have my life saved, not because I am important to mankind but because selfishly, I want to live as long as possible and to be able to support myself and my family as long as I live.

How much is that worth? Shall we go to a bargain counter? Shall we shop in a basement?

Hospitals are the place to go to for the best medical attention. The theory that folks go to hospitals for no good reason is, generally speaking, nonsense.

The food is too terrible and the atmosphere unpleasant.

More lives have been saved by blood testing, by blood transfusions, by the technical work of needle-stickers than the statistics show. And the best place to have such technical work done is in a hospital.

* * *

HOW MUCH IS IT WORTH in dollars? How much are dollars worth? Had one of those men or women asked for a settlement then and there, I would have agreed to any price, for I love life; I love my family; I love the world.

Who can think about dollars at such a time?

But when we get well, many of us look at the bill, like cheapskates who having gorged themselves in a fancy restaurant, count up the items.

As it stands today, I prefer a hospital to a tombstone and am willing to pay the price it costs to keep such institutions going.

Navy Life Not for Them

WASHINGTON —(AP)— None of this year's graduates from the Army and Air Force academies is reported wanting to transfer for duty as an officer in the Navy.

On the other hand, 84 graduates in the Naval Academy total of 639 are joining up with Air Force and six others with the Army, the authoritative Army, Navy Air Force Journal said.

LONDON —(AP)— The Royal Mail Lines is launching the 20,000-ton passenger liner Amazon, the first of a fleet of three for the South American run, at Belfast July 7. It said Princess Margaret will officiate.

Itchy Feet Prevalent In Capital

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON —(UPI)— The annual Easter recess of Congress, or spring junketing season, is underway. As far as could be determined none of our lawmakers was planning a trip to the moon.

"It's not so much that the rockets aren't ready. There are no lunar counterpart funds."

Counterpart, sometimes known as wallpaper money, is foreign currency that is made available for official U.S. spending in return for our foreign aid, which is in dollars.

There the stuff is, stacked up and molding all over the world, and waste is one thing our congressmen can't stand.

So they manage every year to put about a half million dollars of it to use.

The fact it has to be spent in the country that puts it up deters them hardly at all.

They are found ever ready and willing to set aside personal desires and fly off to Paris, Rome, or Madrid to help whittle down the counterpart pile.

* * *

THE FRANCS, marks, slotys or yen with which the junketing lawmaker is equipped by a State Department bagman upon arrival at each foreign airport need be accounted for only in the most general terms.

Some members, like Rep. H. R. Gross (R., Iowa), want this corrected.

Gross thinks this relaxed procedure subjects the traveling congressman to unfair suspicion as to what he may do with the money.

But the travelers seem willing to shoulder this burden. Anyway, they have consistently voted not to require of themselves any detailed accounting.

* * *

IT IS HARD to say how many House and Senate members have given up their Eastern vacations to make these urgent world tours, as they usually are modest about announcing travel plans.

But ticket offices at the Capitol have been swamped for two weeks, and not all these travelers were reserving space to go home.

What members spend in dollars must be accounted for to House and Senate housekeeping committees, though the figures are never made public.

Counterpart spending, under a law passed last year, is publicly reported but only in totals for each traveling committee.

The first such reports revealed recently, for instance, that an undisclosed number of House lawyers, traveling through Europe last fall spent $24,165 in counterpart funds including $2,093 on tips.

Any member of Congress can ride free to and from the Canal Zone on our own Panama Line, whose 15-day luxury cruise from New York costs other passengers as much as $597.

Chiang Airmen Plan U.S. Show

TAIPEI, Formosa —(UPI)— A jet acrobat team of the Nationalist Chinese Air Force will participate in an air show April 12 at Las Vegas, it was announced.

The 12-man team led by Maj. Gen. Lei Yen Chun was invited to the air show by the U.S. Air Force. The fliers will leave for Nevada April 3.

Our Cold Hits Birds Like Men and Crops

A Cracker Viewpoint By Nixon Smiley

IF THERE HAS BEEN a shortage of migratory birds at your feeding station this season, blame the near-record cold winter of early 1958.

According to the current issue of Audubon Field Notes, tens of thousands of birds were caught in the bitter, prolonged cold. They died mainly from starvation.

Audubon people are now referring to 1958 as a Year of Disaster.

But other factors were involved, too. Prevailing northerly or northwesterly winds were too much for many birds to buck as they flew northward over the Caribbean. They fell into the sea and perished.

The cold did such a thorough job of killing off insects in the Southeast that migratory birds which feed on insects could not find enough food to keep themselves alive.

All in all it was a tough year for the birds, and when one considers the hardships they had to survive, it is a wonder that so many did get through.

Losses were so great among some species that they have been listed as "disaster species."

Heavy losses were suffered by wrens, warblers, buntings, bluebirds, thrushes, flycatchers, catbirds and ovenbirds.

Evidently birds must have known through some unexplained "intelligence" that they were short in numbers.

Last year's breeding season was prolonged, and many species were nesting longer in the fall than had ever been noted before.

There was no evidence of any possible extinction of a species on account of the weather.

This high mortality among birds is not an unusual story. It has happened many times before.

* * *

A. H. HOWELL REPORTS in his book, "Florida Bird Life," that thousands of swallows were likely to be killed when caught in South Florida by cold waves.

But one would think from casual reading of Audubon reports that objects such as lighthouses and television antennas are as hazardous to migrating birds as are the troubles which nature cooks up.

In the current issue of Field Notes it is reported that 238 birds were killed in a single night from striking a TV tower in Leon County.

The total number of birds killed by striking this tower between August through November of 1958 was 1,149.

This gives some idea of the serious decline in numbers from 1957, the year before the big freeze.

The numbers of birds striking navigation lights and lighthouses in the Florida Keys long have been used as a means of timing the migratory flights of species. It's hard to see small birds in flight at night, and when they are seen they are hard to identify.

* * *

EVIDENTLY THE AUDUBON people are not worried about the high mortality of birds striking TV and radio antennas.

They are more concerned about the high mortality of birds caused by the wholesale spraying of insecticides to kill such insects as fireants and pests attacking forest trees.

But as far as we can find, no species of bird has been made extinct as a result of man's activities in the application of insecticides.

So far as we know, the only species that have been rendered extinct resulted from the commercialization of the bird for food. One was the passenger pigeon and another was the Carolina parrot.

* * *

AUDUBON BIOLOGISTS and the biologists who depend on the use of insecticides for the control of pests seldom see eye to eye.

And thus the fight goes on, with each side gathering more and more evidence to support its claims.

I like to listen attentively to both sides; but while doing so I will not be inclined to forget the important work done by the Audubon Society in wild life conservation and in its never-tiring efforts to bring about greater appreciation of the wild things in nature.

N.Y. Walkout to Shut Down Museums

NEW YORK — (AP) — A union official says a scheduled walkout of 30,000 city workers today will shut down many zoos and museums in the city.

The one-day walkout was called to protest Mayor Robert F. Wagner's austerity program, which eliminated or reduced proposed raises to 80,000 city workers.

Jerry Wurf, regional director of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, said that skeleton crews would remain on duty to feed the animals and guard art treasures.

Among the institutions he said would be shut down by the walkout are the Bronx Zoo, the Staten Island Zoo, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Museum of Natural History and the Planetarium, the Cloisters, and the Brooklyn Museum.

Note Missing, Not Notably

NEW YORK — (AP) — One of the notes on the organ at Carnegie hall was broken, but organist Bruce Prince-John played on with the New York Philharmonic.

Leonard Bernstein, philharmonic music director, turned to the concert audience and said:

"Mr. Prince-John has asked me to make an announcement. One of the notes on the organ is broken.

"Since it is an important note in the concerto (Handel's Organ Concerto in F Major), he asks your indulgence. We have had an organ-fixing man at work all day, but the note still is not fixed."

One reviewer said: "It was a very pleasant performance and the one note was not missed."

Everyone except John Sherrod said he didn't know.

Sherrod didn't say anything. He was in a stupor.

When he awakened, Sherrod admitted gulping a handful of the pills that he took while unloading a supply truck. Then he pointed out the hidden bottle containing 4,715 pills.

Thief Sneaked Snake Away

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — "Attention all cars. Twelve-foot king cobra, alive and deadly, stolen from an auto between 12:30 a.m. and 1:30 a.m. this date," crackled the police radio.

The reptile, belonging to Scott Lamb of nearby Morgan Hill, was in a small wooden box labeled "deadly poisonous snake," the report said. It had not been defanged.

Lamb told officers his car was parked in front of a downtown theater (Paramount), when the snake was stolen. He collects reptiles.

"One drop of venom from that cobra is enough to kill an elephant," said Lamb, 50.

Just Fishin' Yells, Officer

DALLAS — (AP) — Reports that a woman was screaming at the water's edge of Turtle Creek in suburban Highland Park brought police of the municipality speeding to the scene.

35 in Mine Flee Big Fire

IRONWOOOD, Mich. — (AP) — Fire destroyed the crusher plant of the Penokee mine in the Upper Peninsula community Monday, forcing evacuation of 35 miners working about a half-mile beneath the surface.

Damage was estimated at $100,000. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Showers of sparks flew for a quarter of a mile at the height of the blaze, which was brought under control by firemen in about an hour and a half.

The Penokee Mine, now operated by North Range Mining Co., was the scene of a cave-in in 1926 in which three men were killed and 45 others trapped for several days.

Stowaway's Plans Ruined

RAVENNA, Italy —(UPI)— Augusto Gomes, 33, an unemployed Portuguese fisherman, stowed away on an Italian ship at the Portuguese Cape Verde Islands in mid-Atlantic with hopes of reaching South America to find a job.

After a 4,500-mile voyage in hiding, Gomes came up on deck to find his plans had gone slightly awry. He was in Ravenna. Seems the ship was traveling from Buenos Aires to Italy instead of vice versa as Gomes had figured.

Golda Meir Speaks

Israel Sees U.S. Chill to Nasser

JERUSALEM — (AP) — Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir said in Parliament Monday President Nasser of the United Arab Republic is an ambitious dictator aiming to subjugate other countries in the Middle East.

She said latest developments between Baghdad and Cairo "might induce some Western circles to wish again to strengthen the Egyptian dictator and increase his power out of false hope that in this manner there is a prospect of attracting him to the West.

"We have no doubt such hopes are utterly without foundation and it seems to me there are more people who agree with us than otherwise."

In specific reference to U.S.-Israeli relations, she said:

"Since the end of the Sinai operation there has been a rapid and complete return to the previously existing cordial relationship, and the past year has seen further development, events of the year having resulted in a more complete identity of views between the two countries concerning problems of the area.

Arms Ban Marchers In London

LONDON — (AP) — A five-mile column filed into Central London Monday with jazz bands blaring and banners demanding an end to all nuclear weapons.

Nearly 15,000 singing demonstrators snarled traffic around Trafalgar Square at the climax of a 53-mile march to the capital from Britain's nuclear arms factory at Aldermaston.

Leaders of the march went to No. 10 Downing St. Prime Minister Macmillan's official residence. They delivered a written appeal denouncing nuclear arms as "wholly evil" and calling on Britain to scrap them even if the U.S. and the Soviet Union won't.

Roomy Homes; Skeleton Outside

NEW YORK — (AP) — Five apartment buildings will be erected by the City Housing Authority with their skeletons on the outside.

By putting the supporting columns on the outside of the buildings, wall space in the rooms will not be broken by the uprights.

The reinforced concrete columns will be sprayed a light gray to form a part of the buildings' exterior design. The building facades will be aluminum panels and light red brick.

Policy Maker Visits

British 'Equality' Hinted for Africa

LONDON — (AP) — The Earl of Home, secretary for commonwealth relations, flew to Southern Rhodesia Monday for a four-day visit.

"Something entirely new in the commonwealth story is needed in the federation of Nyasaland and the Rhodesias," he told reporters.

He said he will discuss in Africa plans for the preparation of the future stages of the federation's constitutional development.

"Our principal purpose," he added, "is to build the machinery toward establishing a full equal partnership between the two races who rightly claim to have a home in Africa."

Send Us More Republicans, Keating Cries

HONOLULU —(AP)— Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R., N.Y) said Monday night that either Vice President Richard M. Nixon or New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller could win the presidency next year.

Keating, making no effort to minimize the extent of the Republican defeat in 1958, urged a party fund-raising dinner:

"For heaven's sake, please send more Republicans to Washington before the rest of us die of loneliness."

But he said Republican hopes for the next election are enhanced because:

"1—A new Dixiecrat movement is arising in the South, where Alabama Democrats repealed their party loyalty oath just 10 days ago. Arkansas and Georgia Democrats had previously taken similar action, Louisiana and Mississippi Democrats can withhold their support from national candidates, and similar action is being contemplated in Texas.

"2—More importantly both Vice President Nixon and Gov. Rockefeller have already demonstrated at the polls their ability to run far enough ahead of basic Republican Party strength to capture the presidency in 1960."

Keating referred to an analysis of the 1958 elections by the Congressional Quarterly as proof a Republican candidate can be elected president in 1960 "even if the party as a whole does no better than it did in the dismal year of 1958."

All he has to do, the senator said, is run "one to five per cent better than the Republican congressional in 23 Northern states."

Keating jokingly complained that the Repulbican side of the Senate is so uncrowded now that a GOP member has to send a note by page boy to communicate with a Republican at the next desk.

"The Democrats, on the other hand, are huddled so close together they look like a herd of white-faced Herefords rounded up on the Texas plains — which they are," Keating said. "Just ask Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic boss of the Senate."

Miamian Arrested In Havana

Havana police Monday night announced the arrest of a 38-year-old Miami pilot on charges of bootlegging Cuban currency and flying out Batista followers to the United States.

The U.S. embassy confirmed the police arrest of Austin Frank Young, whose address they listed as 3851 SW 91st St.

He was charged March 25 with transporting officers of ousted Dictator Fulgencio Batista out of Cuba for $1,500 each.

He was also charged with carrying $1,500 in Cuban pesos he was allegedly trying to exchange illegally for dollars, police said.

Americas Festival Tentatively OKd

Tentative approval for another Festival of the Americas was passed by the Miami City Commission Monday, but the commissioners said they are going to put tight controls on the project which last year went into the hole for $60,000.

Commissioners instructed City Publicity Director Lew Price to seek support for the exposition from Metro, Coral Gables, Miami Beach and Hialeah. Commissioners offered to put up $10,000.

Gaiety Padlocked, Too Much Strip

Too much strip, not enough burlesque — that's why police said they raided and padlocked the Gaiety Club, 7800 Biscayne Blvd., early Monday.

Arrested and released on $500 bonds each were strippers Bella (Blaze Star) Fleming, 24, of 2070 Bay Dr., Miami Beach; Susie (Princess Suzanne) Ramirez, 24, of 425 16th St., Miami Beach; Patricia O'Neal, 20, of 8000 Biscayne Blvd.; Diana Grey, 36, of 301 NE 62nd St.; Dorrette (Dorrie Shay) Edwards, 32, of 6932 N. Miami Ave.; and Constance (Connie Lee) Olson, 28, of 2980 NW 79th St.

Also arrested were the club's co-managers, Arthur Pace, 41, of 1528 Drexel Ave., Apt. 1, Miami Beach, and Monte Gardner, 41, of 2070 Bay Dr., Miami Beach, and the master of ceremonies, Charles Andrew Booth, 24, of 8000 Biscayne Blvd.

All are scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Wednesday morning.

Apartment Group Accuses Hotels

The 400-member Miami Beach Apartment Owners Association Monday night charged "certain hotels" are attempting to create fire traps by pushing for a change in the current hot plate ordinance.

The association unanimously voted to oppose any change in the ordinance which calls for a minimum room area of 400 square feet where hot plates for cooking may be used.

Goodwill Fund Upped

With addition of $1,250 last week, $28,960 has been raised to organize Goodwill Industries in Dade County, it was announced Monday by James A. Ryder, president.

This leaves $21,040 to be raised on the $50,000 needed to open a store here and to keep it in operation for a year. After the first year, it is estimated the project should be 80 per cent self-supporting.

Handicapped and elderly people will be employed to sort, repair and renovate clothing, furniture and other donated articles, which then will be offered for sale.

Gem Theft Extradition To Be OKd

A Pompano Beach man lost a round Monday in his lengthy fight against extratition to California, where the FBI says he's wanted as a suspect in a Beverly Hills jewel robbery.

Federal Judge Emett Choate said he will sign extradition papers Friday on which Donald Jay O'Brien, 36, can be returned.

Meanwhile, O'Brien's lawyers indicated they will appeal to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals to prevent it.

O'Brien, a Pompano Beach contractor, is an identical twin to Robert O'Brien, of Ft. Lauderdale. Robert walked into an FBI trap at West Palm Beach last December when officers accused him of trying to rob a jewelry salesman.

EGGS-ASPERATING FACT is that the traditional Easter Monday egg-rolling on the White House lawn was rained out. The fact is eggs-actly mirrored in the faces of Darlene Johansen, four, and her three-year-old brother Skippy of Silver Spring, Md. The bunny-costumed kids came to Washington especially for the event. But President and Mrs. Eisenhower decided youngsters might come down with colds if they frolicked on the soggy lawn.

Mystery Disease Puzzles Doctors

'The Laughing Death' Killing New Guineans

HONOLULU —(AP)— A disease called "the laughing death" is mysteriously destroying islanders in New Guinea, a missionary reported here.

Evelyn Muhlenhard, a lay missionary from Cincinnati, said doctors have been unable to determine the cause of the deaths. They have found no disease organisms in the victims.

Miss Muhlenhard said the affliction has hit mainly women of the Okapa tribe. They suddenly take sick and waste away, she said, with their faces contorted in a grin.

She said there has been no indication of witchcraft.

Dewey Buys Into Paint Firm

TAMPA — (AP) — Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and six other men have bought controlling interest in Mary Carter Paint Factories, Inc., the firm's president said Monday.

Robert Van Worp Sr. said the firm, which has headquarters in Tampa, will remain under his management.

He said the group, which also includes Edward R. Murrow and Lowell Thomas, television newscasters, purchased 3½ million dollars worth of stock in the firm.

The company operates plants at Matawan, N.J., Louisville, Ky., and Tampa. Van Worp said gross sales last year totaled six million dollars.

Arkansas Credits Collins Aid

Arkansas newspapers are giving Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida credit for a broad, if unintentional, assist in the defeat of a move to legalize gambling in that state.

The move in the Arkansas legislature to open the door for a local option election on gambling in Hot Springs came just after Parade Magazine—circulated in The Miami Herald and other newspapers throughout the nation — carried an article by Collins on this topic.

It carried the title, "Legalized Gambling is Poison." In both his campaigns for Governor, Collins pledged himself to oppose any move to extend legal gambling in Florida.

The Arkansas senate beat the move by a vote of 27 to 4. Jack Martin, Associated Press correspondent in the Arkansas capital, credited the Collins article and two local gambling scandals for the resounding defeat.

Seven-Fold Havoc Called Possible

A-Test Fallout Will Hurt 50,000, Scientist Charges

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP)— A Nobel scientist estimated Monday 50,000 Americans will die of cancer or will develop serious disease from the fallout of atom bombs so far tested.

If the testing continues, he said, the casualty rate can be seven times higher than that. And, he added, radiation from present fallout can be expected to produce mental defects in 23,000 persons yet unborn.

The predictions were made to newsmen by Dr. Linus Pauling, of the California Institute of Technology. He later addressed a dinner meeting of the American Orthopsychiatric Association.

In giving his estimates, Dr. Pauling said the Atomic Energy Commission had been less than honest in evaluating the extent to which fallout is likely to affect adversely the health of the public.

He said his estimates of the hazards were 1,000 times greater than those recently given by Gen. Herbert B. Loper, an assistant secretary of defense. Pauling said Gen. Loper estimated that the probability of anyone being adversely affected by carbon 14 and cesium 137 — two of the radioactive elements in fallout — was one in 500,000.

Pauling's estimate for the same set of conditions was one in 500 if testing is continued, and one in 3,500 if no further bombs are exploded.

A consistent advocate of banning further tests, Dr. Pauling said there could be a way of ridding the human genetic system of many defects.

This could be done, he asserted, by holding the line on bomb testing, by shielding human reproductive organs against X-rays and by encouraging voluntary birth control among families known to carry disease-producing factors in their hereditary makeup.

There are perhaps 100 different kinds of disease traceable to bad hereditary factors, he added.

"These defectives now are fostered," he said, "because modern medicine has the means of saving the lives of individuals who otherwise would die out because of their genetic faults."

Ex-Stetson Professor Kills Self

DELAND — Dr. Benson W. Davis, 52, former Stetson University professor, shot himself to death Monday at the Municipal Airport.

Davis left a suicide note which was not available immediately, said Sheriff Rodney B. Thursby. Davis was the object of a two-state search last summer when reported missing by his wife. He finally turned up in Jacksonville.

The educator, associated with Stetson since 1938, did not return this fall to his post as dean of the philosophy department. He was dean of men from 1946 until 1950.

That Former Sexy Flame Should Be Burned Out Now; Tell Him So

By ANN LANDERS

ANN

DEAR ANN: You've probably heard this one at least a thousand times, but it's a real problem to me and I'm afraid it could destroy our marriage.

My husband knew a very beautiful girl before we met. She was gorgeous, sexy, and had a gay personality. I'm not just taking his word for it, several of my friends knew this girl and I've heard a great deal about her. They finally broke up because of religious differences, his mother's protests, and a few hundred other things. All this was the year before we met at a ski resort.

We've been married almost four years and have two darling boys. Almost every day, without exception, he brings this girl's name into a conversation in one way or another. It's either "Rita used to like that song," or "Rita had a dress exactly that color," or "The gal who did that TV commercial had a smile just like Rita's."

I never say a word but I boil inside. I know he loves me, but his continuing references to this former sweetheart in the presence of others, is not only embarrassing but it makes me shaky inside. What shall I do? — SECOND CHOICE

Dear S. C.: The first thing you can do is stop thinking of youself as "Second Choice." He married you — not her. Remember, "the one that got away" always looks better. And it improves with age.

Instead of building an ulcer come right out and tell him you're bored hearing about Rita after four years, and to please change the needle — and you do mean needle.

* * *

DEAR ANN: I'm the mother of six children and my husband and family have always come first. I feel, however, that every woman should have some activity outside the home if she's going to be interesting to herself and others. My outside interest is the local women's club.

I've been active in this group and headed several projects which turned out successfully. As a reward, the club elected me to be their delegate to the state convention. They will pay all my expenses.

I came home bursting with pride so eager to tell my family about the honor and then my husband threw a big wet blanket over everything. He said, "You have a husband and six children to take care of. Let someone else go gallivanting around the country." (I would be gone only three days.)

I could arrange to have someone take the children into their home (club members have offered) and my husband already has dinner invitations for both nights I would be gone.

Do you feel I should go? — CONVENTION BOUND?????

Dear Convention Bound — and I hope you are: Only a very selfish man would ask his wife to pass up this honor.

You have six children? What did he do when you went to the hospital to have the babies? He managed somehow, didn't he? And it was more than three days. Tell him he can manage again. And have a good time.

* * *

DEAR ANN: Our daughter was engaged to marry a young fellow last fall. We didn't care for him but said nothing. She had her picture and the announcement in the paper and the write-up said "No date has been set for the wedding."

She broke off the engagement shortly after the announcement appeared. Now she has met a wonderful fellow and they want to announce their engagement and wedding date. Would it be proper to ask the paper to print another story? Should any mention be made of the previous engagement? — BEIGE LACE

Dear Beige Lace: Submit it to the paper again. Make no mention of the broken engagement. But please—a new picture this time.

* * *

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Miami Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Two Men Ride in Sphere Suspended From 50-Foot-Long Gasoline Tank

. . . gasoline, which is lighhter than water, buoys craft as helium does a balloon

Down, Down . . . 7 Miles Down

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — (AP) — A weird looking "water balloon" will begin a series of dives in about two weeks that may eventually take it into ocean depths man has never seen before.

The Bathyscaphe Trieste, recently purchased by the Navy for $200,000 from designer Auguste Piccard, has already descended nearly 12,000 feet in the Mediterranean. With changes now being made, it will be capable of diving into the Pacific's deepest trenches — almost seven miles below the surface.

The Trieste took two short dives off San Diego in December.

Observers said the bathyscaphe experiment is the Navy's first big move in dedeveloping deep-water-submarines. Today's subs cannot operate much below 750 feet, yet 90 per cent of the ocean lies beyond that level.

On April 4 Piccard's son Jacques will arrive at the Navy electronics laboratory here to act as consultant in the Trieste's new adventures.

By April 10 the Trieste is expected to be ready for launching again and three days later it is scheduled to begin a two-month program of dives that will take it down to 4,000 feet. That's as deep as nearby coastal waters go.

Late this summer a mother ship is to carry the Trieste to Hawaii for dives that will equal or better her old record of 12,000 feet.

The Bathyscaphe is designed to carry two men in a six-foot sphere suspended below a 50-foot-long tank which bears a stubby resemblance to a conventional submarine.

The steel tank, filled with gasoline, acts as a balloon to carry the sphere up and down. The tank walls are only one fifth of an inch thick — just strong enough to withstand rough waves at the surface. The gasoline, being lighter than water, gives the craft buoyancy, in the same way that lighter-than-air helium lifts ballons.

The weight of 10 tons of BB-size pellets makes the Trieste descend. The rate of dive is controlled by the amount of sea water drawn into the tank with the gasoline. The ascent is controlled by a gradual release of the pellets from tanks fore and aft of the sphere.

Layer of White Ash

Ocean Floor Yields Big 'Clue'

NEW YORK —(UPI)— Scientists delving into the secrets of the Pacific Ocean have discovered a gigantic layer of clean white ash of such huge proportions it is believed to have recorded a major physical event in the earth's history, it was revealed Monday.

Although it will be many months before scientists are sure of what they have, they speculated that the ash may be the remains of a spectacular volcanic eruption or a massive collision of heavenly bodies in outer space whose debris fell into the earth's sea.

Indications are that the event, whatever it was, took place within the last 100,000 years.

News of the find was reported by Dr. J. Lamar Worzel, Columbia University professor of geology and assistant director of Columbia's Lamont Geological Observatory, in "proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences."

3 Banks Announce Quick-Credit Plans

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

Three Miami banks announced Thursday they are inaugurating new quick credit plans similar to those which already have been tried and proven in a number of northern cities.

Florida National, Metropolitan and Pan American banks said they will make it possible for borrowers to establish check-writing credit up to certain limits and pay off their loans in monthly installments.

In each case, the interest rates will be a little less than one per cent per month on the unpaid balance of the loan.

Both Pan American and Metropolitan call their plans "Redi-Credit." Florida National, which has essentially the same type plan, calls it Floridaloan Check Credit Plan."

Pan American said its loan application forms are being printed now and should be ready early next week. Florida National and Metropolitan are starting their plans Monday.

Here's how it works:

The borrower fills out an application. He and the bank agree on a sum he can pay monthly and the credit limit is then established.

In Metropolitan's case, the limit is 20 times what the borrower is able to pay monthly. In the case of Florida National and Pan American, it is 12 times the monthly payment amount.

After the application is approved, the borrower can assume he has that amount of money in a checking account and write checks on it up to his limit. He makes monthly payments paying off his loan but his limit remains the same.

Metropolitan is charging five sixths of one per cent interest a month on the unpaid balance. Florida National's interest rate is nine-tenths of one per cent. Pan American says its rate is "just below one per cent."

Charles Shewmake, president of Florida National, said the plan was conceived "to compete with merchants' charge plans."

The plans work very much like a department store revolving charge account.

"This plan will give a man a valuable reservoir of credit," said a Pan American Bank offi[illegible]

G. James Hughes, president of Metropolitan Bank, said the checks his bank issues for such accounts "will look like ordinary bank checks, and no one will know that the purchase a person makes with one was made possible by a loan."

"The Redi-Credit customer can buy travel tickets, appliances, [illegible], auto repairs or pay for hospital bills, insurance, taxes or any other item he chooses."

First National Bank of Boston started the idea four years ago and since then other banks hav inaugurated similar plans. Citizens and Southern National Bank in Georgia announced a plan recently which it calls "Instant Money."

Book Open On House Spending

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A new set of records showing how House members spend funds appropriated to Congress was opened Monday for public inspection by Harry M. Livingston, House disbursing officer.

Livingston announced that vouchers covering payments to members for official expenses will be available to anyone upon request, with the stipulation that the applicant sign a receipt for the bound volumes of vouchers.

Vouchers covering incidental expenses were not available in past years.

Livingston's new order also made public rental records of members who are allowed $1,800 annually for office expense in their home districts. These records had been public until last week, when access to them was refused on the ground there was no working space for newsmen to inspect them.

House payroll records have been available for more than 20 years.

Seaway Seen As Peace Link

EAST LANSING, Mich. — (UPI) — The Great Lakes will become a "new Mediterranean" with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, according to Harry C. Brockel, Milwaukee municipal port director.

Brockel told a Michigan State University audience the basic job of the seaway would be to serve the growing interdependence of the U.S. and Canada.

Fine and Jail the Penalty

Pension Reports Due Today

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Only 40,000 out of an expected 250,000 to a million welfare and pension fund reports have been filed with the government as required by a new law. The deadline is tonight.

The law, enacted by Congress last year, requires administrators of welfare-pension plans to file regular financial reports and descriptions of such plans with the Labor Department.

The purpose is to safeguard from fraud—the estimated 40 billion dollars invested in such plans for worker benefits. Reports are due at the end of each plan's financial year.

The law prescribes a penalty of up to $1,000 fine and six months in jail for willful failure to file the reports.

Canada Gets Short End Again

OTTAWA — (AP) — For the eighth straight year Canadian tourists left more money in other countries than foreign travelers left in Canada.

Canadians spent a record 544 million dollars in other countries while Canada got 352 million from foreigners, said the Bureau of Statistics.

Argentine Unions Call Strike Against Frondizi's Austerity

By GEORGE SOUTHWORTH
Herald Latin America Editor

A showdown fight between Argentine labor unions and the austerity program of President Arturo Frondizi is scheduled for Friday.

Southworth

Peronist and Communist unions have called for a general strike Friday. The strike order came from many unions including metal workers, meat, textile, construction, chemical waterfront, urban transport, oil, lumber and others.

It will be a big test for the 11-month-old Frondizi government. Some key unions already are under official control to neutralize their striking power.

Frondizi's austerity plans call for great sacrifices from the nation's workers to rescue the country's faltering economy. Labor leaders, opposition politicians and many businessmen have blasted the program.

It would halt blanket pay raises in private industry, postpone pay raises already authorized for public employes and suspend retirements on pensions for 30 months.

A recent strike by urban transport and oil workers caused the government to draft these workers into the army. If they strike again now as members of the armed forces, it will create a serious problem.

The Friday strike call has its main support from the Peronist-dominated metal workers union which has asked the courts to repeal a decree placing their union under government control.

Another development concerning the strength of the Frondizi forces took place in Catamarca province last week in an election for the provincial house of deputies.

The opposition People's Radical Party won five seats and Frondizi's Intransigent Radical Party won two. It was the first reverse at the polls for Frondizi's party since he became president.

Guatemala Told Of 'Invaders'

President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes of Guatemala has told his people that an invasion plot against his government is being hatched in Mexico by Rogelio Cruz Wer, former chief of national police during the Arbenz regime, and other exiles.

This plot, he stated, ties in with guerrillas recently reported to be operating in the Sierra de las Minas and the Sierra del Mico, in northeastern Guatemala.

The invasion was planned for this month, he added, but the government is on the alert and aware of who is involved.

Plans of the would-be invaders include assassination of the president and the setting up of a military triumvirate to rule the country, Ydigoras Fuentes said.

Some observers think that this announcement and the recent rupture of diplomatic relations with Mexico over the Mexican shrimp boat incident are being publicized in Guatemala to cover up a shaky internal political situation.

Child Rescued, He Drops Dead

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Bernard Soliwada, 40, a fireman, carried three-year-old Debbie Jean Van Cise from her burning home. Seconds later he slumped over dead, the apparent victim of a heart attack.

Firemen said a cigaret apparently set fire to a couch. They estimated damage at $1,800.

Guns Loaded for Talks

West Rings Reds With A-Missiles

By EDWIN A. LAHEY
Chief Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The foreign ministers of the Free World will have their six guns loaded when they sit down with the Soviet Union team in Geneva on May 11.

While the talk of summit meetings and foreign ministers meetings goes on, the U.S. is building up its ring of intermediate range ballistic missiles around the Russian perimeter.

In the event of war, the most populated part of the Soviet Union would feel like the back lot of a driving range as the nuclear missiles arrived.

That was the real meaning behind the announcement at the Department of State that the U.S. and Italy have signed an agreement to equip Italian forces with IRBM's.

The announcement was curiously timed to greet the NATO foreign ministers as they arrived in Washington to help celebrate the 10th anniversary of the Atlantic Alliance opening here Thursday.

Intermediate range missiles, which could shower the Russian heartland with nuclear warheads, are already located in Britain and Germany. In the latter country, they are in the hands of U.S. personnel.

Another agreement is expected soon to put U.S. intermediate missiles in the hands of the Turks.

News of the U.S.-Italian missile agreement also coincided with the appearance of an article by Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary general of NATO in the April issue of Foreign Affairs. Spaak argues for more missiles in Europe on the ground that "a balance of terror is better than no balance at all."

The Derby Daiquiri!

chosen official drink of Florida Derby

BRILLIANT occasions should be toasted with brilliant drinks.

So when the Florida Derby is run on April 4 at Gulfstream Park, it will have its very own official cocktail: the Derby Daiquiri.

Ask for a Derby Daiquiri at your favorite restaurant or bar. Mix one at home tonight. And remember, always use a light, dry rum from sunny Puerto Rico.

DERBY DAIQUIRI*

1 oz. orange juice
1/2 oz. lime juice
1/2 oz. simple syrup (or scant tsp. sugar)
1 1/2 oz. light Puerto Rican rum

Mix in blender with 1 cup crushed ice and blend to smooth, liquid consistency. Serve in liquid state.

If blender and crushed ice are not available, simply put ingredients and ice cubes in cocktail shaker and shake well.

House To Meet First

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Legislative leaders set up shop Monday for the 1959 session and agreed that segregation, money and reapportionment would be the big issues.

On hand to direct pre-session arrangements for the Legislature opening April 7 were House Speaker Designate Thomas D. Beasley and Senate President Designate Dewey M. Johnson.

Beasley announced the House will convene at 10 a.m. Tuesday, April 7, earliest ever for that body. The Senate will come in at noon. At 3 p.m. the two houses will go into joint session to hear Gov. LeRoy Collins' address.

The early convening of the House was arranged because about an hour's time will be required for a special ceremony of unveiling portraits of 14 former House speakers. The portraits were painted during the past two years under a special commission set up by the 1957 House.

In 1957 the House convened at 11 a.m. The earlier convening time was arranged because the House with 95 members requires more time for organizing than the 38-man Senate.

Beasley said the 1959 session would be one of the most conservative in Florida's history. He forecast the big battles would be fought over segregation, economy and finances.

Johnson added reapportionment and constitutional revision to the list.

Beasley said he would be in his office here from now on through the 60-day 1959 session. Johnson said he would drive over from Quincy each day from now on.

First order of business when the House and Senate convene will be the swearing in of new members. Then comes the election of permanent officers.

Beasley will be serving his second term as speaker, and Johnson will be serving his first term as Senate president.

Sen. W. Randolph Hodges of Cedar Key will be president pro tem of the senate and Rep. James N. Beck of Putnam has been agreed upon for speaker pro tem of the House.

Bob Davis will serve again as Senate president and Leroy Adkisson will be sergeant at arms of the Senate. Mrs. Lamar Bledsoe again will be clerk of the House and Amos Davis will return as sergeant at arms.

When Cuban Visits U.S.

Nixon's Seeking Talk With Castro

Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Monday he wants to meet and talk with Cuban Premier Fidel Castro when the bearded rebel hero visits Washington April 17.

But Nixon, vacationing at the Key Biscayne Hotel here, declined to say whether he would use such a meeting to discuss Castro's hostility toward the U.S.

Unidentified Latin diplomats had expressed hope earlier that Nixon would have a "heart to heart" chat with Castro over what they termed "Castro' growing hostility" toward the U.S.

"I am looking forward to the opportunity to meet and talk with Fidel Castro," was all Nixon would say. Castro will be on an unofficial visit to this country to speak to newspaper editors in the capital.

Pearson April 15

Triumphant Tycoon 'Kidnaps' Son to Zurich

By Herald Wire Services

RENE LANG, merchant millionaire, has returned in triumph to his home in Zurich, Switzerland, with the son he "kidnaped" from his American ex-wife in New York.

Lang said he will return to New York in two weeks to claim the other child of his broken marriage. If his ex-wife tries to take either the boys back, he said, he will have her arrested.

"Three Swiss courts have given me legal custody of my children," he said on his arrival. "There is no American court judgment giving her the right to them."

Lang, 40, evaded a New York airport police alert, chartered a private plane in Philadelphia and flew to Toronto where he boarded a plane with his blond son, Francis, seven, and his second wife, Marian, 25.

He said Francis and the other son, Gerald Emile, nine, had been "kidnaped" from Zurich last February by his divorced wife, now Mrs. Marion Rothstein of New York City.

Temperate? Yes Ma'am, We Agree

Skating is the sport he substitutes for tennis during the winter. Crowley works five days a week as secretary-treasurer of a stationary company, and he thinks he needs the exercise.

And, although he takes a tumble on the ice now and then, Crowley never has been hurt because, as his wife says, "He knows how to fall."

Crowley a small, thin man, makes sure that he doesn't get too much exercise. An afternoon of skating, or tennis, once a week is enough.

"He has always been a very, very temperate man," said Mrs. Crowley.

He must have been. Crowley is 90 years old.

That TV Prize Gets Banged Up

SCHEAFFER DEAN, a college student from Alabama, guessed the 1959 red and white convertible would cost $7,000 His guess, on a national television program, was the closest to the price tag and he won the car.

Sunday morning, Dean and Douglas Smith, a fellow student at Huntingdon College in Montgomery, Ala., were riding back to school in the flashy new convertible. Dean was asleep on the back seat and Smith was driving.

But Smith dozed off too. The car drifted across the four-lane U.S. 29 highway between Castonia, N.C. and Charlotte and smashed into a pine tree. Both Dean and Smith were bruised and cut, but not hurt seriously.

Patrolmen guessed it would cost $2,000 to repair the prize.

IN THIS WEEK'S POST

What would you do if a Negro moved next door?

In this week's Saturday Evening Post you'll read the dramatic, compelling story of Ellsworth Rosen, a white homeowner in a "changing" Baltimore neighborhood, and learn how he met the challenge of a Negro neighbor.

You'll visit Rosen and his family in Ashburton, a lovely Baltimore suburb with tree-lined streets and handsome single-family homes. You'll find out:

- what happened when the first Negro — a high-school principal — moved into the all-white neighborhood.
- how Negro prospects were shown homes for sale only at night.
- about the neighborhood crisis that arose when scores of white families tried to flee the "black cloud."
- how shady real-estate agents tricked the residents into selling "while you can still get the price."
- what Baltimore officials are doing to keep mixed communities open for everyone — regardless of race, color or creed.

Here's a true, timely, tension-packed article you'll be discussing for weeks. Be sure to read "When a Negro Moves Next Door."

He's Hollywood's newest star—at 72!

Two years ago he was through, washed up. After 50 years in show business, the "greatest comedian of them all" couldn't even get a job. Then his son took over as manager. Here's the heartwarming story of Ed Wynn's sensational comeback as a dramatic actor. You'll enjoy "Grand Old Man's New Career."

Jackie Jensen says:
I play for money—and nothing else!

Last year Jackie Jensen was voted the Most Valuable Player in the American League — the greatest honor a ballplayer can receive. But to the Red Sox star it meant only one thing: a big fat raise in pay! Now Jensen gives the low-down on why he's so interested in dough, and why "My Ambition Is to Quit."

Will Communism fail in China?

Chester Bowles, long-time expert on China, weighs and measures the Reds' chances of survival in China — and describes the horrible consequences if they succeed!

It's a wonderful week in the Post . . . 10 articles, 4 short stories, 2 serials, many cartoons and exciting photographs.

Opening lead: King of clubs.

In today's hand, declarer should have made a preliminary play in order to determine whether a safety play was feasible. This precaution would have enabled him to safeguard the reasonable slam contract which he and his partner had reached.

West opened the king of clubs. Declarer won and led to the ace of diamonds. When West showed out, life lost its zest for South. The success or failure of the spade finesse now assumed the importance of a mere bookkeeping entry.

North pointed out vehemently that resort to a standard safety play would have secured declarer against losing more than one trump trick regardless of the distribution. At trick two he contended that declarer should have led a small diamond and just cover any card East plays. If East shows out, the ace would be played and a low diamond to dummy would hold the enemy to one trick in that suit.

North's analysis of the safety play is basically sound but not altogether applicable to this case. If South were not faced with the danger of losing a spade trick, North's position would be tenable. But if South has to lose a spade, he must, then, go allout in an attempt to pick up the trump suit in its entirety.

How to play trumps cannot be determined until the spade situation is clarified. Since declarer has no choice as to the manner of playing the spades, he should first take the finesse in that suit. When it wins he can afford to give up a diamond trick and therefore, make the safety play in trumps. But if the spade finesse loses, he can now play the ace of diamonds in the hope that the king is singleton.

What Is Wrong When Prayer Fails?

A strange man in Los Angeles, known as the "Voice of Two Worlds", is offering, free of charge to the public, an astonishing Booklet which is a great step forward toward the answer to this question. The search for clues led to a prolonged study of all the great religions of the world, until at last a surprising new light was thrown upon the entire subject of prayer.

In this new light, even the well known Lord's Prayer acquires astonishing new meanings. Hidden between the lines are deep significances and wonderful truths that do not appear in the words alone. The free booklet points these out and is entitled "The Magic Between the Lines of the Lord's Prayer."

.."The Voice of Two Worlds", a well known explorer and geographer, tells of a remarkable system that often leads to almost unbelievable improvement of power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise. These strange methods were found in the Far East, where in ancient times all the great religions and philosophies of the world originated.

He discloses how he learned rare wisdom and long hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats.

He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as world-wide professional recognition as a leading geographer and map-maker of the Far East.

He wants to tell the whole world what he learned there, under the guidance of the wisest mystics he ever encountered during his twenty-one years in the Far East. He wants many others to experience the greater health and the Power, which there came to him.

For your free copy of the amazing free booklet entitled "The Magic Between the Lines of the Lord's Prayer", together with other free literature regarding this remarkable system, address the Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 So. Hobart Blvd., Dept. 359-R, Los Angeles 4, California. Send no money. Just your name and address on a post card will do. No obligation. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free books have been printed. —Adv.

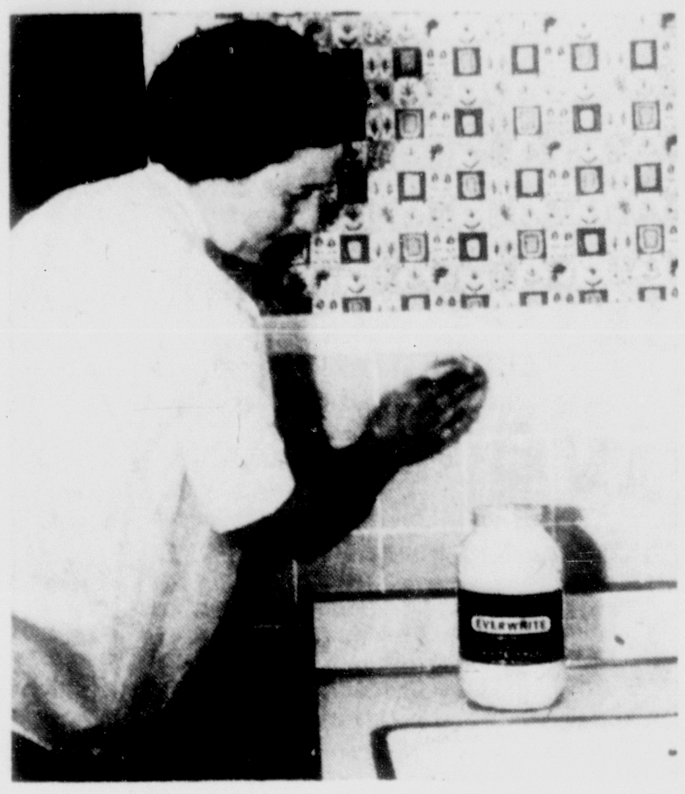
Everwhite Is All-Purpose Cleaning Compound for Homes



ALL-PURPOSE CLEANER for any household job is Everwhite Mildew Remover and Cleaner. Mrs. C. M. Scott Jr., 8751 SW 41st Ter., is one of many housewives who have used Everwhite with great success.

"Housewives in South Florida will be glad to know that Everwhite, the wonderful cleaning compound, now contains a new improved formula which makes it better than ever," says M. J. Spellman, owner of Everwhite Products, 3577 W. Flagler St.

"It did such a wonderful job on roofs and walls," he continued, "that we decided to experiment even further.

"It didn't take long to discover that the white powder, when dissolved in warm water, was not only the most terrific cleaner we had ever used on tile, terrazzo, procelain and other surfaces, but also the best mildew remover.

"As a floor cleaner, it is remarkable. Terrazzo, tile and linoleum all looked like new when wiped with a mop dipped in a pail of the solution. No matter how scuffed, greasy or scratched the floor is, it will become gleaming bright without scrubbing.

"And what a timesaver it is in tile bathrooms! You just rub it over the tile, let it stand a few minutes and then wipe it off. All mildew and mold are removed and your bathroom looks spotless.

"It also is good for painted woodwork. If the surface is badly smudged with children's crayon designs, just a wipe of the cloth dipped in weak solution, and the woodwork becomes beautiful again. And the glossy finish has not been dulled.

"Other uses for Everwhite are cleaning rust and stains from sinks and removing marks from procelain and enamel appliances, such as washing macines and refrigerators.

"For extra tough jobs in washing, put up to a cup of Everwhite in the washer and heavy-duty materials, such as painter's drop-cloths, come out almost like new.

"For most cleaning purposes, a solution of a tablespoon of powder in a quart of warm water is right.

"Another product featured at Everwhite Products is the Everwhite roof coating kit. This complete kit includes a cleaner, two brushes and paint. Selling for only $24.50 the Everwhite roof coating kit is sufficient to cover the average size roof."

Everwhite Products sells their cleaning compound for only $1.50 a quart. Further information about the remarkable new cleaning product may be obtained by calling Spellman at HIghland 5-2727.

Reynolds Features Quality Furniture, Free Interior Decorating Service

Complete decorating service for the discriminating buyer is one of the "extras" featured by Reynolds Furniture Co. This decorating service includes complete planning for homes under construction, as well as older homes.

Reynolds Furniture specializes in medium priced and fine furniture, carpet and draperies. A new Budget Department recently was opened which features a complete stock of the better manufacturers in the lower price range.

"While we have furniture in almost all price groups," says O. R. Reynolds, owner. "It is not possible to offer Reynolds quality furniture at a discount and still give the type of service which has made our firm popular. We believe that 'the bitterness of poor quality remains long after the sweetness of low price has been forgotten.' In other words, you get only what you pay for.

"One service we give free, which otherwise would cost you a great deal, is our decorating service. Bring us your plans, if you are going to build a home, and we will discuss the decorating possibilities of your new home.

"When you want to redecorate your present home, simply call one of our three experienced decorators at FRanklin 4-4150 and make an appointment at your convenience. Of course, there is no obligation.

"We also would like to invite you to visit our beautiful showroom at 3365 SW Third Ave. (Coral Way at Five Points). Look around and ask us to prove that 'in furniture, quality is more than fabric deep'.

"Compare quality and compare prices. You will be amazed that such fine contemporary and traditional furniture is priced so reasonably."

Santa Rosa Didn't Slow For Fog

NEW YORK —(AP)— The master of the cruise liner Santa Rosa told a Coast Guard hearing Monday he did not reduce the ship's speed as fog closed in minutes before collision with the tanker Valchem.

Capt. Frank S. Siwik was the first witness as the three-man panel opened inquiry into the crash last Thursday 23 miles off Atlantic City. Four members of the Valchem crew were lost. Both ships were badly damaged.

Siwik testified visibility through the mist was cut to a mile and a quarter as his vessel continued on at 21.5 knots, its normal speed.

He said that he did notify the engine room the Santa Rosa had entered fog — a signal to alert the engine room staff.

Siwik told the board that as the fog began his second officer, Walt Welles, reported radar equipment showed the Valchem to be 4.9 miles away, and to the right. The time was 2:54 a.m.

Three minutes later the distance was three miles, the witness continued, and Welles estimated the ships would pass about three-tenths of a mile apart.

After inspecting the radar himself, "I saw it was going to be a little closer than three-tenths of a mile, so I ordered a hard left turn to get away from the fellow on my starboard (right).

"I figured that with my speed I would be able to get away."

This was at 2:58 a.m.

Suddenly Siwik said he saw the other ship's lights directly ahead.

"I ran into the wheelhouse and hollered for a hard right turn," the captain continued, "I ordered hard right but before the rudder took over we collided."

Continuing his testimony, Siwik said that he first heard the Valchem's foghorn about a half minute before seeing the tanker's lights directly ahead, between a quarter and a half-mile off.

The Santa Rosa's log, he said, showed that a minute before the crash he had ordered both a right turn and full speed reversal of the engines.

It's Time To Roast, Rib Again

It's Ribs 'n' Roast time again. Several hundred invitations have been mailed to the annual show in which Greater Miami journalists lampoon politicians, public figures and themselves. The affair, which has become traditional over the years, will be held April 9 at the Miami Springs Villas.

Written and performed by local members of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, the show pokes amiable fun at the people and events which made headlines in the past months.

George Beebe and Hoke Welch, co-chairmen, said some surprises are planned for this ninth version of the show. Some 50 newspaper, radio, television and public relations men will take part. The show is directed by Sid Cassell.

Proceeds are used to provide journalism scholarships to the University of Miami.

2 Women, Man Kill Themselves

Two women and a man were found dead Monday in what police said were suicides.

Dead were, Mrs. Anna Schwartz, 69, of 808 Collins Ave., Miami Beach; Ivan Lisk, 40, of 835 NW 137th St.; and Mrs. Mary N. Mikulich, 43, of 1221 NW 26th St.

Mrs. Schwartz leaped from the third-floor roof of the Clinton Hotel, 825 Washington Ave., Beach police said.

Lisk, a painter, was found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning, from his station wagon in a garage at 375 NW 22nd St., said police.

Mrs. Mikulich, an unemployed stenographer, was killed by gas stove fumes. Five jets were found open. Police said she left a note saying she was despondent over the death of her husband three years ago.

Fine Upheld

The Dade District Court of Appeals reversed itself Monday and upheld a $250 fine against attorney James A. Dodd for attempting to prompt perjured testimony in a damage suit. Dodd is facing disbarment trial before Circuit Judge William A. Herin.

March '59 Idle Areas Top 1958

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Labor Department reported Monday that more major industrial centers suffered from "substantial" unemployment this month than during March 1958, when the recession just about touched bottom.

The department's Bureau of Employment Security listed 74 major areas where unemployment exceeded six per cent of the labor force.

This represented a decline of two areas since the bureau's January report, but an increase of four over the total a year ago. There were 89 areas on the list last July, an all-time high.

The bimonthly survey of the nation's 149 top industrial centers showed that joblessness remained at "relatively high levels" despite the business recovery.

The department said, however, that it expected a slight-to-moderate pickup in jobs across the nation. This trend will be most apparent in construction, food processing and other industries where workers are usually added in the spring.

The bureau also looked for small increases in factory jobs in the steel, electrical and fabricated metals industries, which experienced severe layoffs during the recession.

Eleven areas were classified as having 12 per cent or more unemployment compared with seven in this category in March, 1958.

The number of smaller areas with substantial labor surpluses increased from 183 in January to 193 this month. The year-ago total was 121.

The department's summary said reports from auto and aircraft centers indicated "continuing uncertainty" about the job outlook in those key industries.

The 11 areas with 12 per cent or more unemployment are Detroit and Muskegon, Mich.; Altoona, Erie, Johnstown, Scranton and Wilkes-Barre-Hazelton, Pa.; Huntington-Ashland, W.Va., and Mayaguez and Ponce, Puerto Rico.

Virginia School Plan OKd

HARRISONBURG, Va. — (AP) — Charlottesville's new school assignment plan, which envisions some desegregation in September, was approved Monday by U.S. District Judge John Paul.

Paul met for 35 minutes with John S. Battle Jr., counsel for the Charlottesville School Board, and Oliver W. Hill of Richmond, an attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. No objections to the plan were raised during the meeting.

Paul said he had every reason to believe the assignment plan had been drawn by the School Board in good faith, and he commented that the board should have time to try it out.

He retained the case on his docket in case there was need for further court action.

Twelve Negroes were ordered into the all-white Lane High and Venable Elementary schools last September, an action which brought the closing of the two schools under the state's now defunct massive resistance laws.

The 12 Negroes remained out of school while the two schools were closed, but have been tutored since the schools reopened in February.

"The plan contemplates admission of the group now being tutored and there may be some others to qualify under it before September," Battle said after the meeting. "The extent of that will depend entirely on the number that may seek transfers. But I do not anticipate much integration next year."

The plan places assignment powers in the hands of the school superintendent, and specifies that he exclude all racial consideration.

Humphrey: 'Crisis' Approach Aids Reds

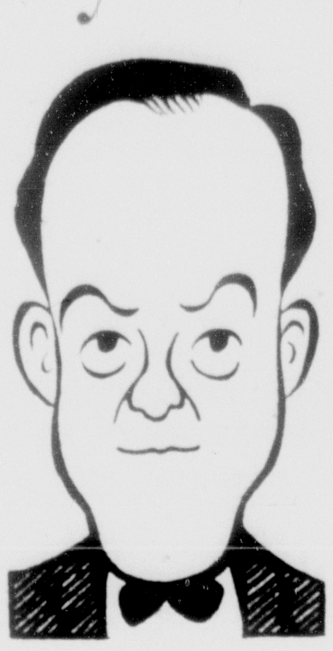
Sen. Hubert Humphrey predicted in Miami Monday that a firm Allied stand at the Summit will force Russia to back down without a shooting war over the Berlin crisis.

But he warned that what he called continued mishandling by President Eisenhower and the State Department of American foreign policy in the Cold War can only mean further gains for the Soviets.

"The weakness in our foreign policy is our treatment of each crisis, each problem, as something separate," he said. "Each should be a part of the world problem . . . which is a totalitarian issue."

"We are in a life-and-death world series," the senator told a jam-packed luncheon meeting of the Dade County Bar Association.

"It's a world series without the benefit of spring training . . . on a winner-take-all basis."



Sen. Humphrey
. . . no spring training

The Minnesota Democrat, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, discussed his recent eight-hour interview with Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Moscow, and his on-the-spot inspection of Berlin.

Humphrey said the Cold War is a global war—that the problems of the Middle East, Berlin, China and even Latin America are closely tied in and should be treated that way.

"If free West Berlin falls, it is not inconceivable that West Germany would eventually follow, and if West Germany falls, the nightmare of a new tyranny would sweep over all Europe," he said.

The senator said the State Department urgently needs "somebody in charge" now.

"I have the highest regard for the secretary," he said. "May his health be restored . . but we cannot have sentimentality in our foreign policy now . . . We need people in charge 24 hours a day."

Humphrey proposed that the U.S. ask for inclusion of U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold at the big-power summit conference on Berlin.

"The presence of the secretary general would mean the symbolic representation of all members of the U.N. who may object to four powers presuming to settle an issue which can mean peace or war for the entire world," he declared.

The Minnesotan also suggested that the summit conference be held within the framework of the U.N., and that the U.N. have permanent representation in the divided German city.

Russia, he said, wants three things in Europe, and has manufactured the Berlin crisis in a bid to get them.

1—The Soviet Union wants the Western Powers to get out of Berlin. It ultimately wants the entire city under complete Communist control.

2—Russia wants to force the Western powers to negotiate an all-German settlement favorable to the Soviet Union, preferring a united Germany closely tied to the Communist bloc.

But he believes the Soviets would settle for two Germanies with East Germany solidified under Communist control by the elimination of the Berlin oasis.

3—The U.S.S.R. hopes through the threat of war over Berlin to split the Western allies, undermine NATO and neutralize West Germany.

"We cannot permit any of these Soviet objectives to be fulfilled," said Humphrey. "It is inconceivable that we would retreat from West Berlin."

He said that, based on his talk with Khrushchev and his studies of the international situation, "I am convinced that the Soviet Union prefers to gain its political objectives in Europe without nuclear war.

"I am convinced that Russia needs peace . . . that she is economically not geared for war."

He said the U.S.S.R is relatively happy with her success in "operation nibble" and will continue to "nibble and pick up the pieces of the world bit by bit" as long as the Western powers allow.

Humphrey called for the U.S. and her allies to "do our homework as never before" in preparation for a long and arduous battle over the conference tables at the summit.

"The Russians always come prepared," he said. "This time we must."

Nehru Invited To Visit Soviet

NEW DELHI — (AP) — The Times of India said Prime Minister Nehru has been invited by Nikita Khrushchev to visit the Soviet Union. The newspaper said the invitation was brought to New Delhi by Ambassador K. P. S. Menon and the reply will be conveyed on Menon's return to Moscow in mid-April.

For and about WOMEN

We Were There . . . At Fine Arts Breakfast

FLOWERED BONNETS, such as these worn by four club leaders, gave a spring-time atmosphere to Coral Gables Woman's Club's fine arts breakfast Monday. Mrs. M. Lewis Hall, left, member of the club and first vice president of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, wore deep pink. Mrs. Raymond Burr, fine arts chairman of the club, was in daffodil yellow. White was the color choice of Mrs. Lloyd Rees, standing, who was chairman of the breakfast. Mrs. Winston W. Wynne, right, president of the club, wore powder blue.

MUSIC AND DRAMA were represented at the party by Mrs. Clifton Muir, southeastern regional vice president of the National Federation of Music Clubs, and Owen Phillips, director of the Coconut Grove Playhouse. Both spoke briefly on the progress of music and drama in Greater Miami. More than 200 members of the club attended the program.

NOVELIST, POET AND MUSEUM director were other honor guests at the party. They are, left to right, Mrs. Raymond (Carol) Brink, Newberry prize winning novelist, Mrs. Joseph (Audrey Wurdemann) Auslander, Pulitzer prize winning poet, and E. Robert Hunter, director of Vizcaya, Dade County's art museum. Veronica and James McCormick presented the musical program, accompanied by their mother, Mrs. James J. McCormick. Miss McCormick wore the white bouffant gown she wore at the Stephen Foster "Jeanie Ball" when she won the Jeanie contest.

'Should My Boy Friend Attend This Wedding Without Me?'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I am 19 and have been going steady with a boy two years. He and I love each other and have made plans for the future. Because we are both still going to school, we have not announced these plans to anyone.

Recently a close friend of my boy friend asked him to be an usher at his wedding.

Although we have double dated with this couple on many occasions, and they know how my boy friend and I feel about each other, I was not invited to the wedding.

Do you think my boy friend should go to the wedding even though I was not invited? He says he has to go because they are such close friends. I am anxious to know what is right.

ANXIOUS

Your lack of invitation could be an oversight, so let's give the couple the benefit of the doubt and assume that it is.

It would be entirely proper, under the circumstances, for your boy friend to mention to his friend, the fact that you have not yet received your invitation to the wedding.

That should take care of the situation, nicely.

There's Nothing Like Children

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

After my baby was born, I resented the role of mother — the sleepless nights and the extra work, which were so new to me.

But, gradually, as my baby grew older and became a little person so easy to love, I discovered there was nothing more rewarding in this world for a woman than the experience of having and loving children, and being able to give a little of herself for them.

Now I want more children but seem unable to have them. This, sometimes, is the sad twist of fate.

I just wish those mothers who are so blessed with children would appreciate them a little more.

WOULD-BE-MOTHER

There Was Love With Each Stroke

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

M. B.'s letter bring to mind an experience I had in a doctor's waiting room. My three small children were sitting quietly looking at books.

There was another woman, quite embarrassed because her two were behaving badly. Finally she turned to me and asked how I managed to keep my youngsters quiet.

I told her I had promised candy if they were good. She said she had tried that and it didn't work for her. I then added that mine were also promised a spanking if they weren't good.

Her exact words were: "My God, I beat them half to death and it still doesn't help one bit."

Like Contented Mother, I was not referring to brute force. I was speaking of a good-old-fashioned paddling, like my kind and gentle mother gave to me.

I will also add that I have never resented a single paddling, and think there must have been love in each stroke of her hand.

MRS. W. H.

Some Advice To In-Laws

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I would like to write you the words I told my two daughters-in-law, in hope they will promote better understanding among the women of one family.

I am a grandmother by choice—I married a widower with two grown sons, one married and the other single. When the second son married, I took my new daughter to one side and told her what I had told the first daughter-in-law:

"We will argue, we will fight, we will disagree. You are you and I am me. I will respect your right to do what you think best if you will do the same for me. Let me hear from you once a week to assure us you are well.

"There will be times when I'll get angry and so will you, but I'll never stop loving or speaking to you. There is to be no longterm hate in this family. If you are offended, do not carry a grudge. Say what bothers you. If we can help, we will, and we will love you still."

FREDERICKA

The man who carries a grudge just makes his burden a little heavier. Perhaps your words will help, not one family, but many others.

Eleanor Hart.

Column With a Heart welcomes discussion of your problems, and your replies to the problems of others. Write to Eleanor Hart, The Miami Herald, Miami, Fla.

A Woman's Prayer

By Josephine Robertson

O God, in my relations with people around me today give me the power to establish a friendly atmosphere, as fresh and clear as a mountain morning.

If someone is unpleasant, keep me from yielding to any childish reaction of anger to anger, unkindness to unkindness. Teach me rather to sense the cause beneath the word or act that on the surface seems unfriendly, and to see beyond passing moods without being swayed by them.

Help me to dissolve away the clouds of unhappiness and misunderstanding with the sunshine of love and sympathy. Reveal to me the secret of bringing refreshment of spirit to all I meet today. Amen.

AAUW Finds Painless Way To Give Food Sale

Miami Branch of the American Association of University Women has a new wrinkle on fund raising—a foodless food sale.

The sale is going on right now, but nary a pie is being baked. None of the members is slaving over a hot cooky sheet either, because the foodless food sale boils down to two words: "Send Money."

The co-chairmen of the sale, Mrs. John E. Norman and Miss Harriet Wilson, sent out a poem explaining the foodless food sale to the branch's 250 members.

And the members are sending the price of whatever they would bake for a good sale to the chairmen for the building fund of the national association's Educational Center under construction in Washington, D.C.

NEW GADGET IS PATENTED

Now Baby Won't Slip

The New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — A device for holding a slippery baby in a bathtub has been invented by Mildred O. Ackerson of Upland, Calif. "As generally known," she said in her patent application, "infants are difficult to handle during a bathing operation."

Her apparatus is a plastic base with a large depressiion for the baby's torso and a smaller depression for the head.

Mother can let the baby squirm and use both hands for washing. The raised headrest keeps baby's face out of the water and soap out of his eyes, according to the patent.

Memo for Men

By BERT BACHARACH

CARE OF CLOTHES: Two ways of keeping buttons from coming off work clothes — (1) Have them sewn on with dental floss instead of thread, or (2) Touch thread at center of button with clear nail polish. It will seal the threads and prevent breakage.

Double Duty Party

You can do two things at once at the Tuesday morning party of the Nina Opland Unit, Woman's Corps of the Cancer Institute at Miami: see Vizcaya and its formal gardens and pick out a new spring outfit.

Party is at 10:30 a.m. fashion show of clothes from Beth Eber of South Miami on the terrace at Vizcaya, Dade County's art museum.

Mrs. James F. Moore, 6908 Altimira Ave., Coral Gables, is ticket chairman and Mrs. W. A. Blitch is general chairman of the party.

Dinner Benefits Mercy Hospital

By HELEN WELLS
Herald Society Editor

Maybe they weren't floating on Cloud 7, but they were in the Sky Room at the Dupont Plaza Hotel—612 strong.

They were guests Monday evening at the $50 a plate Mercy Hospital benefit, this year called the Bishop's Annual Charity Dinner for Mercy Hospital. Bishop Coleman Carroll sat at the head table. He is a handsome, charming man. With him at the head table were those who stood in the receiving line, Dr. and Mrs. Franklyn E. Verdon and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Fitzgerald, co-chairmen of this charity ball, and Dr. and Mrs. Matthew Larkin.

Dark-haired Mrs. Verdon wore a bouffant gown of gray silk organza embroidered with red flowers with red taffeta bodice. Mrs. Fitzgerald was in turquoise satin and Mrs. Larkin in pale lavender satin.

Cocktails were in the lounge before the doors were open to the main dining room. There, half pineapples filled with fruit and wrapped in vari-colored cellophane at each place on the tables made a colorful picture.

One of the largest tables of the evening was hosted by Blanche (Mrs. Nelson Swift) Morris. Among her guests were Lois Dulaney in a spectacular long white brocaded gown topped with a short green Chinese embroidered jacket.

She was there with Lon, of course, and others included Bernice and Harry Simone, Helen and Jack Miller, Agnes and Dr. D. Ward White, Cmdr. and Mrs. Charles Mills, Lessie and Walter Merrill, Grace Frain Lee and Arturo diFilippi and Lee's sister, Celia Landis.

From the Gables were those three good looking young women — Elaine Gaither, in turquoise chiffon, Elsie Ring, in a flower print, and Ginny Beckwith in champagne chiffon. Bill Gaither and Dr. Jack Beckwith were with them and Elsie Ring was waiting for John who was in Tallahassee on Monday.

Punk and Duff Matson told of the trip 50 members of the Century Club are making this weekend with their wives. They are going to Coral Harbour Club in Nassau for a whirl.

Others glimpsed dining and dancing included the Hoke Maroons, Marguerite Bassett, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Annis, the Denis Renuarts, the Mackle brothers, Elliott, Frank and Robert with their wives, the Stuart Pattons, and James Sotilles and the Frank Rooneys.

This annual benefit dinner (this was the eighth one) is to raise funds to make up some of Mercy Hospital deficit occasioned by the hospital's charity work.

One Party After Another

Maybe you've never seen a whirling dervish, or even a reasonable facsimile thereof, but there was many a party goer, from junior miss age on up, who felt like one over the weekend.

At the Surf Club's Easter Ball on Saturday there were more than 600 dining, dancing and making merry. One of the long tables, beautifully decorated with spring tulips, was hosted by Margie and Walter Pierce of South Miami.

Margie is a stunning brunette with the whitest skin imaginable (Walter says he can't get her in the sun!) and was a study in black and white. Among their guests were Jody and Ben Turner from the Gables, Ann Van Sciver squired by Henry Belk, Willa Walla and her date Neville McArthur, pretty Joannie Caldwell and husband Gene, Mary and Mort Bright, Jane and Bud Frischkorn.

At a nearby table were Val and Philip Wood with famous Gar Wood; Mae Harrison, there with Moe, was wearing a dreamy turquoise and gold brocade. They were with the Howe Moredocks, senior and junior, among others.

Another large table was hosted by George Walker, a Ford v.p. and his wife, Freda. George leaves for Detroit today on the Ford private plane with Benson Ford and other Fords but Freda and their daughter, Marjorie, her husband, Charles Otto and their three youngsters, Carol, Preston and Marjee of Birmingham, Mich. are staying until the end of the week. Mrs. Walker, however, is staying in their Surf Club apartment which they have just done over until April 20th.

* * *

A Night for Dancing

It's hard to believe that Charlotte Husted has a daughter 22, but she does and she was home over the weekend from New York "in the flesh" to prove it. She is Susie Statler, a career girl in advertising who has an apartment in the big city with Lynn Meredith.

On Saturday night Susie gathered her college friends at Charlotte's Beach Tower apartment hotel for dinner, dancing and reminiscing. Margaret Ann Pentland gave her a helping hand with the party.

Two more of Charlotte's daughters, Barbara and Debbie Clark were home for the holiday, too. Barbara from Emma Williard and Debbie from Miss Harris'.

Hoedown at the Bath Club

Bath Club members celebrated with a good old fashioned hoedown on Saturday. Cow pokes and their ladies sashayed into the club where a gigantic cardboard cowhand welcomed them to the "Long Branch Saloon."

Feasting on substantial chuck wagon fare . . . steak with all the trimmin's and hot apple pie . . . were Constance and Oscar Dooly and Emery Flinn and his pretty blonde bride, Beverly.

Vacationing collegians included Gayle Shaw and Peggy Phelps, both home from Smith. Gayle's date was Dennis Severris, a Cypriot who attends Harvard. Peggy was escorted by Archie Joyner, a Duke student from Greensboro, N.C.

Also from Duke were Miamians Bobbie Jean and Rex Guthrie, Tish Tafe of Los Angeles and Bill Boys from Detroit.

Stomping out a mean "Portland Fancy" were Betty and Ed Worton, Beth and Sandy Granling who agreed that square dancing is not as easy as it looks. Sally and Jim McKillips, Cleo and Niles Trammell, Virginia (Mrs. William) Root were more cow boys and girls.

* * *

An Event for the Family

It was a family affair, the Easter Sunday luncheon at the Surf Club, and how nice to see all the "chirren" as Tar Heel Nina (Mrs. Spratt) Mangus, says in their finery.

At Helen and Loren Berry's long table were his dear little mother, "Granny" Berry, as perky as a kildee in her blue Easter bonnet and pink dress though near the century mark. Loren's pretty daughter, Martha and her husband, John Fraim and their two plus more of the Berry grandchildren and relatives.

At Olive (Mrs. John) Wofford's table were Dr. Lew Knights, Stephen O'Connor and elegantly turned out Willie Sweeney in swallow tail coat and striped pants. Floyd Akers came by with daughter Tommie Jean's handsome book of colored pictures of her and husband Howard Jobe's wedding in Washington.

* * *

They Talked About Missouri

"Meet me in St. Louis" could have been the theme song of Joe Bettendorf's party at Indian Creek Country Club on Sunday evening. St. Louis is Joe's home town and also that of his houseguests, Virginia and Bill Schmidt.

More from the "show me" state and St. Louis were Ruth and Fred Rapp, Ruth and Ed Taylor, Arthur Atkinson, Gabrielle and Don Barnes, Elsa and Bill Stubblefield.

Hope Stokes acted as hostess for Joe at his table for 40 guests. Michele Langlois and Joe Mozetta were a sensation on the dance floor, she is a retired former professional and Joe could be a professional, he's that good.

Ben Olsen was telling Harriet Young about his new home in the Grove which has six bedrooms. He is in the throes of remodeling.

Miss Cote Is Bride

St. Joseph's Church in Miami Beach was the setting for the wedding Monday of Miss Marie-Paule Cote to William Joseph Whebby.

The bride is the daughter of the Edmond Cotes of Edmondston, New Brunswick, Canada. Her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Marneault, were hosts for the reception held at their home, 7452 Harding Ave., Miami Beach.

Mr. Whebby is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Whebby of Dartmouth, Nova Scotia.

Both were educated in Canadian schools. Mrs. Whebby is a graduate of the Hotel Dieu Hospital School of Nursing.

Following a Canadian honeymoon, the newlyweds will live in Ontario.

This Paint Really Sticks

By JEAN WARDLOW
Herald Staff Writer

Not birds and bees. But birds and flowers are causing Mrs. W. B. D. heartache. They're painted on three of her wood trays and . . . well, let her tell it:

"I have three lovely wood trays which unfortunately are hand painted with birds and flowers. Then there is lacquer or some fixative over the entire tray, so the handpainting won't come off.

"Is it possible to remove the birds and flowers and refinish the trays so that they are just plain wood?"

But that's not all. She has more problems.

The next one concerns place mats.

Mrs. D. says, "I have two kinds and both are dirty. One kind is the woven straw from Nassau. Can these be washed with water and soap?

"The next kind is plastic which has a nubby surface like cloth. These I have scrubbed with soap and water but the stains of french dressing linger on.

"What to do?"

* * *

Her Leather Jacket's Torn

You know those pretty leather jackets? Well, MRS. B. B.'s isn't so pretty any more. A tear. Naturally it couldn't be in the seam. It's right out in the open for all the world to see.

How can she repair it?

* * *

Making Soap? Here Are Hints

MRS. W. B. who makes her own soap, sent in answers to readers' soap questions:

"1. BACON FAT is one of the best for making soap. Mutton tallow and suet not acceptable. Chicken fat, rancid cooking oils, etc. all are fine.

"2. BORAX, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup, added to soap when making will whiten soap. Mine was yellow too before I used borax. Sift and mix thoroughly into soap." Mrs. C. S. also suggested this.

Mrs. B. also has some recipes which she'll be happy to pass along to the boy from Patrick Air Force Base who requested any tips on home-making know-how (preparing for his future married life).

Afraid he might be discharged by now. But if he'll write Readers' Exchange and give us his address, we'll pass along Mrs. B.'s letter.

Remember Poem About Manners?

A poem please. Not any old poem. One about manners.

MRS. R. A. W. of Miami is looking for "an old poem designed to help teach good manners to children. It is called, I think, 'The Golden Keys.'"

Mrs. W. thinks the poem begins like this:

A bunch of Golden Keys is mine.
To make each day with gladness shine.
'Good morning' is the Golden Key
That opens each bright day for me.

And she thinks the closing line is:

At evening when 'Good Night' I say

Does this joggle any golden memories about golden keys?

* * *

Anyone know "Nellie's Christmas Eve?"

Legal Institute To Hear Talk

Miss Edith Monot, Miami, state president of the Florida Association of Legal Secretaries, has been invited to speak at a legal institute to be held by the Florida Bar Association and the Brevard County Bar Association Friday in Cocoa Beach.

The institute deals with "Law Office Management" and Miss Monot will speak on "What a Lawyer Should expect from his secretary and what a secretary should expect of the lawyer."

A New Idea for Salad

Pears Are Baked in Delicate Fruit Juice Sauce for This Spring Salad
. . . pear halves are chilled, then arranged on a bed of cottage cheese

By JEANNE VOLTZ
Herald Homemaking Editor

Daily Food Guide

Pears are best known in their raw state — juicy, slightly crisp to the bite and sweet.

But cooked pears are a new idea in salads. The pears are baked with orange and lime juices, a sprinkle of brown sugar for added sweetness. The pear halves are chilled, then arranged on cottage cheese and greens for a different fruit salad.

It's a salad good with ham, pork, poultry or other meats.

FAMILY DINNER

Creamed Ham and Eggs with Peas
Parsley Potatoes
Sunny Baked Pear Salad
Cornbread, Butter
Cherry Cobbler

Pears for cooking should be almost ripe for best flavor, but still firm so as not to cook mushy.

SUNNY BAKED PEAR SALAD

3 firm fresh pears
Juice of 1 orange
Juice of 1 lime or lemon
2 tablespoons brown sugar
3 cups cottage cheese
Crisp salad greens
Orange slices
Lime wedges
Special Dressing

Halve and core pears. Grate some of the orange rind to use for dressing. Combine orange and lime juices and brown sugar in 9-inch pie pan. Place pears face down on fruit juice mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until tender, about 20 minutes. Reserve syrup for dressing. Chill pears well. Serve on cottage cheese and salad greens. Garnish with orange slices and lime wedges. Serve with Special Dressing. Makes 6 servings

SPECIAL DRESSING

½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup juice from baking pears
2 tablespoons sugar
⅛ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon grated orange rind

Combine all ingredients and blend well. Serve on Sunny Baked Pear Salad. Makes about ¾ cup.

Safety Shirt Inflates When Wet

Floater Shirt Inflates Automatically
. . . a 'Mae West' for the masses

New safety shirts and vests which reduce the dangers of drowning in Miami's waterways and bay are now in our stores.

These floater shirts have a zippered pocket containing a removable, harmless chemical packet. The packet automatically inflates when it gets wet, turning the shirt into a life jacket. The chemical inflation lasts 45 minutes.

Of course, it's a good idea not to wear the safety shirt in the rain unless the chemical packet is removed first. The shirts are of washable cotton in extremely bright colors so the wearer is more visible in the water.

Also available is a floater vest which may be worn over any other regular garment. Both shirt and vest come in adults' and children's sizes. Extra chemical packets are also available.

The shirts and vests have two additional safety features. Another pocket holds a carbon dioxide cartridge — the kind you put in a syphon to make bubbly soda. This cartridge may be used to inflate the garment mechanically. There also is a cloth tube which may be used to inflate the garment by mouth.

The Judge Is a Good Dancer

BUFFALO, N.Y.—By day, a judge; by night, a dancing instructor. That is the story of Ann T. Mikoll of Buffalo.

A striking 29-year-old blonde, she has been a judge in Buffalo's City Court since 1957.

But long before she became a judge or even an attorney, Judge Mikoll studied ballet. And now, one night each week, she trades her black judicial robe for a pair of dancing slippers to instruct youngsters at a community center here.

"I still dance because I love to do it," she said. "And I think wholesome recreation—whether it's dancing or anything else — is just another way of fighting juvenile delinquency."

Judge Mikoll has been a dancing instructor at local community centers for about 10 years.

"I could see no reason to stop just because I was elected a judge," she said.

"If you can paint half as well, I'll pay double for your canvas," said her husband. Mme. Graulle painted her first landscape, but her husband didn't get it.

ONE'S LONGER THAN OTHER

Mom's Worried About Baby's Teeth

By DR. J. G. MOLNER

"My daughter is a year and two months old," writes Mrs. S. H., "and has had her two front upper teeth for months, yet one is longer than the other."

She adds one or two other questions about baby teeth.

Dr. Molner

At the time of a baby's birth, there are 44 teeth already in the process of development. Of these, 20 are baby teeth and deciduous, (they will come out); 24 will ultimately become permanent.

The incisors, or front teeth, are first to appear as a rule, and it is understandable that there might sometimes be a variation in the size. However, this is not an indication that the second, or permanent teeth will follow the same pattern.

Mrs. S. L., I believe is unduly concerned on this score. Her dentist may give her more satisfaction than I can concerning the problem, but it is my thought that she should not worry about this until the permanent teeth begin to come in.

I might add that many authorities feel that a child should be taken to the dentist at the age of 3, even if there is no sign of any disorder in the teeth. It is well to have the dentist make sure that everything is coming along well. Healthy first teeth are important in the development of healthy second ones.

Exact time of the emergence of first teeth varies with sex, race and family pattern—girls tend to sprout them earlier than boys. Vitamin deficiency may retard teething.

When the second teeth come through, starting at about the sixth or seventh year, the process is less troublesome. The roots of the baby teeth absorb, and the second teeth push the baby teeth out of the way. Thus the second teeth follow easily in the path already opened by the baby teeth.

Is Diabetes Her Big Trouble?

"DEAR DR. MOLNER:
I have a girl friend who has been married five years, has been pregnant three times, and has lost all three babies.

She has a severe case of diabetes, but her husband says this condition has nothing to do with it. I have heard otherwise from many people. Can you tell me anything about this?—D.D."

I can tell you this: "Many people" told you the truth. That poor girl should get regular (although not necessarily frequent) care from a physician for her own sake.

She needs good medical attention right from the first known week of pregnancy, if she is to have any chance for a normal birth. And I would suggest gagging her husband. He just doesn't know what he's talking about.

NOTE TO L.H.L.:
Yes, sir, I've been reading about Vitamin E for years, but giving it in any sort of dose is fruitless unless you know what is causing the sterility. Offering Vitamin E as a "cure for sterility" is like offering any medicine you might have in mind for "stomach trouble" instead of finding out whether the trouble is ulcers, appendicitis, hernia, ileitis or a lot of others. In short, the basic premise of this column is to start with the idea that the best way to cure anything is to FIND OUT WHAT CAUSES it before you go jumping to conclusions.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible. Always write to Dr. Molner in care of The Miami Herald.

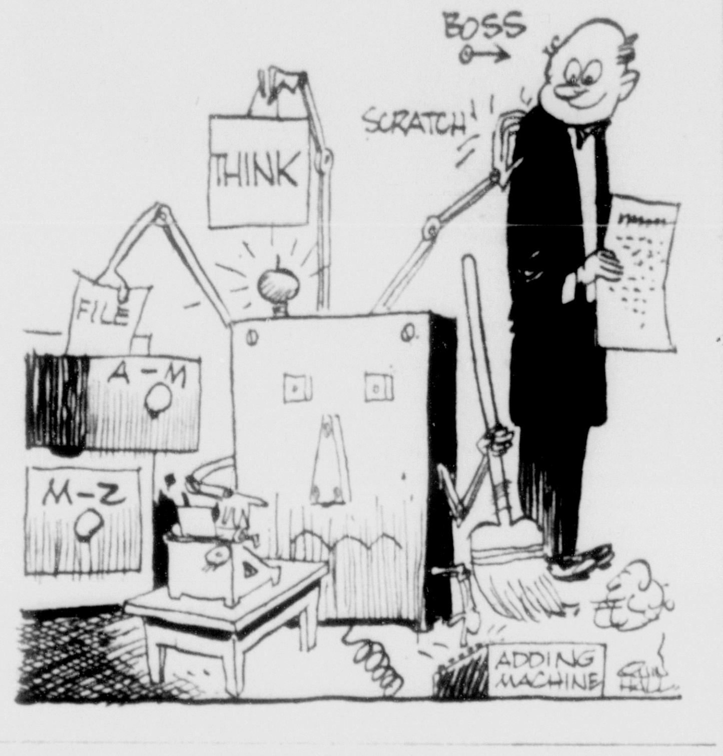
Will Automation Affect Your Job?

Data Machines Are Clicking In 300 Greater Miami Firms



(Second of a Series)

By STAN JOHNSON

Herald Business Writer

In Detroit, where the production line was born, automation has taken over many of the jobs once performed by skilled and semi-skilled auto workers.

The First National Bank of Miami is using machinery operated by punch cards and magnetic tape to do the accounting for its trust, installment loan and savings departments.

Airlines Are Automated

PAN AMERICAN World Airways and Eastern Air Lines have accounting departments that are almost fully automated.

At Pan Am, one of the area's largest date processing systems computes the weekly wage of each of the company's 6,000 employes and issues payroll checks.

In its spare time, the system keeps a daily inventory of 70,000 separate items, issues statistical reports, and handles most of the company's general accounting.

Dade County's Metropolitan government will use a data processing system this year to compile a tax roll with about 1,200,000 entries.

It used to take 37 employes weeks to do the jobs, says Budget Administrator William Scovell. With data processing, nine employes can do the work in 40 per cent of the time.

Today, there are few jobs involving paper work which cannot be performed more quickly and accurately by machines than by people.

Machines Can Be Costly

WHAT STOPS MANY businesses from replacing people with machines is the cost factor. A data processing system like IBM's Ramac, which can keep all the books for a small business, sells for $193,000 and leases for $3,000 a month.

On the other hand, the Martin Co. doesn't mind spending $43,000 a month for a giant computer at its Pratt & Whitney plant in Palm Beach County because it could never get answers as quickly or accurately from a staff of mathematicians as it does from the computer.

Few companies install data processing equipment simply to reduce labor costs.

Usually, employes who have been displaced by a machine will be given new jobs in other departments.

When Metro moved into the county tax assessor's office with data processing equipment, it started a dispute with Assessor John Gautier which ended in the resignation of Budget Director Harry Toulmin.

Metro Can Save $250,000

GOVERNMENT OFFICES are a fruitful field for the business machine. One out of every 11 employed persons works for federal, state or local governments, and the work they do often is ideally suited for a data processing system.

Metro officials hope to install within a year a centralized data processing system that will handle all the county's budget work, payroll accounting, waste collection billing, hospital records, and Metro court records.

Such a system would save $250,000 a year and would free about 100 county employes to work in other departments, Scovell said.

"With data processing, we'll need fewer workers and more brains," Scovell said.

He points out that specialists will be needed to "program" information for the data processing system.

So far, no machines have been developed capable of taking over the decision-making functions of executives, but scientists are at work in this field, too.

'58 Recession Shows In New State Audit

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Florida's financial difficulties during the recession of 1958 were reflected in a state audit of the comptroller's office which was released Monday.

State Auditor Bryan Willis said on June 30, 1958, the cash balance of all fund was $80,792,715, a 23.34 per cent decrease under the previous year.

Florida ran into money troubles in early 1958, when tax revenues were not enough to pay for the huge appropriations program laid down by the 1957 legislature.

The cabinet ordered a five per cent across-the-board cutback in all state agencies, and borrowed $20,000,000 from trust funds to keep the state on a cash basis.

Liquid resources for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958, Willis said, decreased $10,772,076 under the previous year. He said the general revenue fund totaled $27,563,260 at the end of the audit period, compared to $62,302,948 on June 30, 1957.

Insurance For Execs

NEW YORK —(UPI)— Business executives in the $25,000-a-year bracket carry, on the average, more group life insurance in relation to their salaries than the executive earning $100,000, a study by the National Industrial Conference Board revealed.

The study covered 40 medium to large nationally-known manufacturing and non-manufacturing concerns.

Maximum life coverage ranged from a high of $300,000 in one company to a low of $10,000 in another, with the average $50,000 for all companies.

Building Booms

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Housing and industrial building led construction contracts in the U.S. to a new February high of $2,300,000,000 last month, F. W. Dodge Corp. reported. This was 18 per cent above the February, 1958, total.

Strike, Weather Blamed

EAL's Profits Drop $2 Million in 1958

By JAMES RUSSELL

Herald Business Editor

Eastern Air Lines reported Monday it earned two million dollars less in 1958 than it did the year before.

The airline blamed the drop in profits on the 39-day strike by flight engineers and mechanics late in the year, "unseasonable weather" that cut the Florida traffic sharply early in the year, and "the effect of the multiple competition imposed on Eastern's main trunk routes by the CAB."

Despite all this, Eastern earned a net profit last year of $7,078,062, or $2.34 per share, compared with $9,378,022, or $3.21 a share, in 1957.

In its annual report to stockholders, Eastern said its first straight jet planes — Douglas DC-8's — "are scheduled to go into service early in 1960." Eastern is already operating prop-jet Electras on some of its routes, including the busy New York-Miami run.

Eastern said it took in nearly 235 million dollars in revenue from its passenger service last year. Of this amount, 42 per cent came from the low-cost air coach services.

The airline said 1958 was its "24th consecutive year of profitable operation and its 19th without subsidy of any kind."

Florida's bad 1957-58 winter and the increasing competitiveness among the airlines also cut into Eastern's load factor. The airline said its planes ran only 53.1 per cent full last year. In 1957 they ran 60 per cent full.

U.S. Cigaret Smoking Sets Record — 436 Billion in '58

Dow Jones, AP, UPI

This means a yearly total of 185 packages, or 3,700 smokes, per person 15 years of age and older. That figures out to about half a pack a day a person.

Adding in overseas military sales, consumption in U.S. possessions and exports, total U.S. cigaret output reached 470 billion, up 28 billion, or 6 per cent, from the previous high in 1957.

The increased smoking occurred despite statistical evidence offered by medical groups that there is a relation between use of cigarets and the incidence of lung cancer.

The Agriculture Department said increased smoking can be attributed to the greater number of women smoking, a larger teen-age population, and the tendency of people who switch to filter-tips to smoke more than when using non-filtered brands.

If you're planning on air conditioning your store, office or home, take a look at these new Climate Changers from Trane! First thing you'll notice is their modern, streamlined appearance. They've been designed to bring you "big system" comfort in the best-looking, unit on the market. And, of course, they're engineered to the same rigid specifications that have made Trane a leader in big building air conditioning.

This year, Trane brings you new models . . . new sizes . . . new engineering features to meet every air conditioning need. There are new air-cooled models from 3 tons to giant-capacity 30-ton units. And each unit features extra quiet operation, thanks to superior insulation and large, slow-speed fans. Units are good looking, too—blend with any type of decoration. Best of all, you can choose a Trane Air Conditioner that's exactly right for your individual needs. Units may be installed with or without ductwork . . . may be air or water cooled. And there's a size to cool any store, office or smaller building.

So for a "buyers' climate" for your business, call Trane—the people who make air conditioning equipment for everything from skyscrapers to jet planes to subway trains! Telephone, or send the coupon for a free survey of your individual cooling needs. There is no obligation, of course.

CHECK THESE FEATURES:

● Greater economy—Trane design means low power consumption, high efficiency. Rugged construction for long, trouble-free life.

● Maximum cooling—Full-rated capacity means you get all the cooling you pay for!

● Quiet operation—Special motor and fan mounts . . . large, low-speed fans . . . insulated casing and compressor housing make Trane units so quiet you hardly know they're running!

● New streamlined look—New cabinet styling blends with modern office and store design. Adaptable for free-standing or recessed installation. Smaller over-all dimensions save valuable floor space, help create room balance and harmony.

● Best installation and service—Trane dealers are carefully selected for their integrity and reliability, as well as for their air conditioning know-how.

The 3 Forces Of Prosperity Are at Work

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

The third of the three great forces which decide whether our economy is heading toward boom or bust is at last flickering into its place in the economic pattern.

The force is business spending on new plants and new equipment.

And it is a relief to be able to report that it finally is joining the other two in pointing toward prosperity.

SYLVIA

Consumer spending, the first great force, has been on the upbeat for many months. Personal incomes are running at a record annual rate, retail sales have been surging upward, housing is moving along at a strong pace. The way we maintained our spending in the face of business downturn was crucial in softening and shortening the 1957-58 recession.

Government spending, the second great force, also has been on the upbeat for many months. States, cities, the federal government have been pouring billions into the economic stream and this spending, too, was crucial in softening and shortening the 1957-58 recession.

But since early 1957, long before it was obvious we were into another slump, business spending on expansion — the third of the three great forces — has been conspicuously absent as a prop under the economy.

* * *

Conspicuously absent, that is, until now — for now the situation is changing.

ALL THE MAJOR studies of industry's plans to spend on new plants and equipment in 1959 are in. Every one points to an upswing in business spending this year over 1958.

It isn't much of an upswing. The government's figures indicate a rise of only 4 per cent, from $30.5 billion in 1958 to only $31.8 billion in 1959. And the moderate extent of the climb has disappointed many experts, convinced them business spending won't help our economy much.

For instance, the very fact that corporations no longer are cutting down their spending is a major factor on the plus side. When business spending started to slide in 1957, the bloom went off the boom and, I repeat, had it not been for the maintenance of consumer spending and the hike in Government spending, the recession would have been much worse.

* * *

ANOTHER SIGNIFICANT point is that this upswing in spending after a fairly long downtrend signals a new cycle of expansion is in the making. These cycles don't start or end overnight.

Four times since World War II it has happened.

First came the wave of industrial expansion at war's end, and the aim was to build any plant that could turn out goods for you and me.

Then came the wave of expansion coinciding with the Korean war, and the aim was to build factories to meet war needs and our demands, too.

Then came the wave following the 1953-54 recession, and the aim was to construct facilities to turn out more goods at lower cost.

And now a fourth wave is starting to build up. It's a modest beginning, a slow one—but it's a beginning. And it means that all three forces are now at work in the economic pattern to spur our growth to heights never before reached anywhere.

Desilu Income Jumps Sharply

HOLLYWOOD — (UPI) — Desilu Productions Inc., whose stock was listed earlier this month on the American Stock Exchange, said net income for the first 40 weeks of the current fiscal year totals $141,730 compared with $26,082 for the corresponding period last year.

How High The Taxes

NEW YORK — (UPI) — The taxes Americans paid on the purchases of smokes, candy and chewing gum last year were sufficient to pay the entire bill of the U.S. State, Labor, Commerce and Post Office departments according to the National Association of Tobacco distributors.

The public spent $6 billion on smokes of all types and $2 billion on candy and gum. Excise taxes on tobacco products alone in 1958 totaled $2,500,000,000, the association said.

By 50 Pct.

Production Rate to Rise

NEW YORK — (UPI) — America's industrial production rate will jump 50 per cent in the coming decade or nearly as much as the present output of Russian and West Germany combined, according to Fortune Magazine.

In terms of today's prices, this country's total production of all goods and services is slated to climb to an annual rate of $750 billion by 1970, the largest percentage economic growth for any similar period in the nation's history, the magazine said.

IS NOW THE TIME TO SPECULATE IN WARRANTS?

A well-timed speculation in warrants at very low prices can offer you big profits — even a small fortune — in a short time. Here are two examples of 'leverage' gains offered by warrants: while $100 in Tri-Continental's stock was growing to $1,623 in 48 months, $100 in Tri-Continental's warrants grew to $17,200 — or 10.6 times as much. And while $100 in Hoffman Electronics' stock was growing to $2,267 in 24 months, $100 in Hoffman Electronics' warrants grew to $50,000 — or 22.1 times as much. As you can see, $100 in warrants (especially at low prices) can do the work of $1000 or even $2000 in growth stocks. Now many warrants are low-priced once again. And our Editors in a new Special Report select for you: "8 Very Low-Priced Warrants That Can Make You Big 'Leverage' Profits". A copy of this new Warrant Report is yours as a special bonus now when you send just $1 (new readers only) to try our unique advisory service 'The Growth Stock Letter' for the next two weeks. A Matter of Concern

We are concerned about the number of people who have been buying stocks in recent months for what we believe are the wrong reasons — wrong at least for them. These are the people, mainly unsophisticated about securities and often victimized by the tips and rumors that flood the market today, who have been buying stocks in the hope of making a big, quick profit. In a word these people are speculating imprudently.

What do we mean by imprudent speculation? Just this: There is nothing morally or economically wrong with speculation, but there can be everything wrong with who does the speculating.

Speculation serves a highly useful purpose in helping to keep the market both liquid and orderly; it provides a cushion on the down side, a brake on the up side. To use the words of the late Justice Holmes, "Speculation is the self-adjustment of society to the probable," and in the stock market, that process of self-adjustment is a vital one.

But, although speculation may be good, it does not follow that it is good for everybody to speculate. Quite the contrary.

Speculation involves the taking of risks. And when men take risks they can't afford to carry, when they put at stake money that they can't afford to lose, they speculate imprudently. They court trouble. They become a matter of concern to us and to every other broker who has labored over the years to interest more and more people in becoming shareowners in American business.

For make no mistake about it: We still believe in that goal. We still believe it is desirable for every man to have an ownership interest in American business who can afford such an investment.

We still believe that the risks a man runs in not investing his surplus funds can be greater than the risk inherent in buying good common stocks. But we never want to minimize the factor of risk that is an inevitable part of any investment.

That's why we want to repeat here a piece of advice that has been a basic and widely advertised policy of this firm since the day of its founding.

No man should buy stocks unless he can cover his living expenses comfortably, unless he has adequate insurance to protect his family, and unless he has set aside funds to meet emergencies.

To the man who can meet those qualifications — the man who is or wants to be an investor — we have one other piece of basic advice: "Investigate — Then Invest."

Our help in building a prudent investment program, one that squares with your own objectives and with the market conditions of the times, is yours for the asking.

Airlines Among the Gainers

Key stocks declined from fractions to more than two points as the market resumed its "correction" of the latest rise to record highs.

Turnover was slow, totaling 2,940,000 shares compared with 2,900,000 Thursday, last session prior to the Easter weekend.

The decline was general, relieved only by fair gains among some airlines and other selected issues. The pattern was lower for steels, oils, rails, electronics, chemicals, building materials as well as most aircraft and motors.

A highlight was the predicament of H. L. Green. The New York Stock Exchange delayed opening of this stock until afternoon because of weekend news of an "apparent deficiency" of about three million dollars in the company's Olen division. Green finally opened on a block of 15,000 shares, off 4 7-8 at 33, and closed at 33 3-8 as sixth most active stock.

Corporate bonds were lower in active trading.

COMMON STOCK
at $7.00 A SHARE — APPROX. yield 6.5%

HIGHLIGHTS

- Conservative capitalization — only 427,080 shares of Common Stock — No Bonds — No Preferred Stock.
- The company operates a growing chain of integrated retail bake shops. It now has 85 shops in 26 states and the District of Columbia.
- Each year, during the past 22 consecutive years of Federal Bake Shops' successful operation, stockholders received a share of the profits in cash dividends. Many of its 1,300 employees are stockholders!
- The company's financial condition is excellent. It has cash and government bonds equal to nearly 3½ times its total obligations. All of its properties and fixed assets are owned free and clear of encumbrances. There is $8.54 worth of tangible equity for every share of common stock, no bonds. The company is not a borrower.
- Each store is a complete business in itself. All business is on a cash and carry basis. There are no losses on credit, no overhead for keeping customers' records. The turn-over is about 20 times a year. Inventories carried at cost represent only about 15% of current assets.

Are you standing still in the midst of growth?

• There's every indication that in the years ahead our nation's economy will grow as it has never grown before.

Will you share in that growth? You should be able to, by purchasing carefully selected common stocks. Of course, there are risks, for when you buy a common stock you become a part owner of the company and share in its fortunes. But, the rewards can be substantial.

How do you go about planning an investment program tailored to your particular needs? Our new booklet "Building a Second Income" is full of factual information which many have found to be of great help. For your complimentary copy, just fill out and mail us the coupon below.

TOWNSEND CRUSADED FOR $200 A MONTH

1934 was a critical year in the Great Depression. While President Roosevelt battled with the nation's economic problems, many starry-eyed visionaries peddled their special panaceas guaranteed to cure the country's financial ills.

Out in California, Dr. Francis E. Townsend was making headlines, crusading for the Townsend Plan. His idea was for the government to give $200 a month to everyone 60 years old or over . . . provided the person spent the money within 30 days and thus kept it in circulation.

Townsend 'Share-Our-Wealth' Clubs sprung up like mushrooms. More than a thousand were organized in 1934. Newspapers editorialized; congressmen were flooded with mail; elderly citizens clamored to climb aboard the Townsend bandwagon. The Townsend influence gradually waned after Congress enacted in 1935 the Social Security Act with its old age benefits based on earnings before the age of 65.

In the year that the pros and cons of social security were hotly debated, Chase opened its doors on Miami Beach. It was in 1934. Dollars were scarce and some people said the time was not ripe for creating a new financial institution. But the founders knew that genuine security is built by men and women who plan their future on the fundamental principles of thrift and personal independence. They also knew that they were founding an association not for a day, but for all time.

Chase Federal grew . . . branched out . . . has provided upward of 124 million dollars in home loans. Our faith in Greater Miami and our achievements over the years lead us to look ahead to a future filled with promise, continued progress and growth.

HERE'S A PARTY where it'll be cheaper to go by yourself. Tropical Park Jaycee Auxiliary is helping the Nephrosis Foundation. They've booked a show at Preview Lounge for April 12. And — so it says right here — "Admission will be $3 per couple or 75 cents per person."

Mrs. R. C. Knight is slightly flustered about that income tax report:

When April 15 ends my sufferin'

My prayer, most devout,
Is that three things hold out;
My patience, my dough and my bufferin.

Excuses

Mrs. Stanley Mills, 750 Okeechobee Rd., Hialeah, is looking for her mother, Mrs. A. C. Hester. "She came here four months ago and I just got here," she explained.

"Why didn't she write to you?" I asked.

"How could she? There must be about 15 of us."

Costly Tour

Holiday on Ice — the European version — opened Monday night in Moscow, with every seat sold for the entire four weeks. It then goes to Leningrad for another four weeks.

Jim Riley, advance man for the Holiday show which opened at Beach Exhibition hall Monday night, says the Russain tour will cost owner Morris Chalfen $50,000, even with sellouts all the way. European Holiday shows in the past have used European skaters in all except the leading roles. But the troupe in Russia is 100 per cent American. Furthermore, it's far more elaborate than usual, with a cast of 90.

Chalfin figures it's well worth the financial loss, just to be first in Moscow with a huge ice show.

Bars Combed for Tipsy Bank Bandits

By GEORGE LARDNER
Herald Staff Writer

FBI agents combed Hialeah bars Monday in search of an intoxicated bully, a man who walks like a duck and a bruiser with straight blond hair — the three burlesque bandit suspects in a $10,400 holdup.

In an amateurish robbery shortly before noon Monday, the trio, led by a pistol-waving drunk, held up the Community Federal Savings and Loan Association of Hialeah.

For 12 terror-packed minutes they ransacked the office while menacing five employes, a business machine representative and five customers, including a 19-year-old pregnant woman.

Investigators said the stickup men might have caused greater havoc if they hadn't been distracted by William A. Mann Jr., the firm's manager and executive vice president.

Witnesses gave this account:

"He had a good load on and acted like a crazy man," Mann later said.

The executive tried to hold the bandit off, but was walloped on the hand.

His companions then rounded up the customers, warning them to stay quiet. Mann, meanwhile, managed to delay the desperadoes by slyly locking a counter door leading to the tellers' sections.

But the drunken leader jumped on the counter and barked orders in a slurred voice while brandishing a long-barreled target pistol.

The drunken leader, however, stumbled along the counter top before jumping down. FBI agents, called in because the association is a federal home loan bank, apparently got some good fingerprints where he steadied himself.

"I couldn't convince him that we have no safe, that the money is picked up each day at a bank and redeposited at night," Mann said.

After stuffing the loot in their pockets, the three herded Mann, four workers and Watson in a tiny closet. Two bandits fled out the rear door but the blond bandit called Mann out of the closet and served an ultimatum that he tell the location of the safe.

"I thought he was going to hit me, but he finally left," Mann recounted.

As they were leaving, the drunken gunman mistook a glass partition for an exit, discovered his error with a snarl, and "smashed it with his gun butt," Mann said.

The description of the trio does not fit those of gunmen who robbed $19,125 from the North Hialeah branch of the Citizens Federal Saving and Loan Association last January, FBI agents said.

The $10,400 was insured, association executives reported.

They added that Mann will be given a bonus for his "courage and presence of mind."

Bar Plan Backers Seek OK

Would Offer Help To Metro Courts

By ARTHUR JOHNSEY
Herald Staff Writer

A three-member courts committee will ask the full Metro Commission today to rush its approval of a plan to have the American Bar Association help shape the structure of a Metro court system.

If approved, it could mean Metro courts could begin operating under basic principles of an ABA-approved plan within 50 days, the committee told civic groups Monday.

Patten said ABA experts can begin immediately, offer basic recommendations in 30 days and expect to help begin implementing them in 15 more.

The suggested study, to cost around $36,000 on a non-profit basis to the ABA, would be financed from fines and court costs collected by the Metro courts.

It would show where the heaviest concentration of cases can be expected, where existing facilities can be used, how many judges should be retained at first and the required initial court personnel.

Senior Metro Judge John Turner said the judges feel if the county can get expert guidance it can set up a system in two or three months.

Unquestionably, he said, the courts can by trial and error do the job themselves.

But he added "there is no question (expenditure of) the amount of money this non-profit group is asking is well worth while."

Patten said the urgency of getting started is one impelling reason.

"We want to eliminate if possible the trial and error period. We think this study will help a lot to do it," he added.

Twin Parade Champs Really 2-3 Triplets

Officials of Miami's annual Twin's Parade discovered Monday that there were more at home like the winning twins in the parade's six-to-12 year category.

And the twins — or triplets — made an astounding discovery of their own: They had won without ever knowing it.

Because the Sunday parade was only for twins, Ronald had to disqualify himself so his brother and sister could march in the contest.

When the parade ended, disinterested Ronald had dragged Raymond away to look at the boats at Bayfront Park's Pier Five. Rhonda, and her mother, Mrs. Desley Davidson, sat down and waited for them.

By the time the Davidson clan got back to the reviewing stand everyone else had left. It was not until Monday that the twins — or triplets — discovered they had won first place and a gleaming record player.

Brain Cancer Claims 8-Year-Old Victim

By TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

The sign, still hanging on her bedroom door, read, "Quiet Please, the Boss is Sleeping."

But Libby (Elizabeth Ann) Morton, a pretty eight-year-old of 3760 NW 12th St., was dead — the victim of an incurable brain cancer.

"She went out peacefully," said her father, Robert R. Morton. She had slipped quietly into a merciful coma. Two days later she was dead.

Although the cancer, first discovered late last year, had taken the run and jump out of Libby, it was unable to steal her spirit.

But her parents didn't let her read the story. It said she was soon to die.

Besides her parents, Libby is survived by her two sisters, Janice Kay, 12, and Mary Ellen, 10; a grandfather, Herbert R. Morton, Miami; and a grandmother, Mrs. Nelda E. Bean, Illinois.

Services will be at 4 p.m. today at Bess chapel with burial in Flagler Cemetery.

Major Developer Eyes Dodge Port

Westward Weighing A Package

By JOHN MORTON
Herald Staff Writer

Financial problems surrounding Miami's controversial Dodge Island port project may be swept away by a single investment and development alliance, City Manager Ira F. Willard reported Monday.

The project, which has lacked a solid financing plan, is being considered by a New England and West Palm Beach construction firm, Perini-Westward Developers Inc. The company is building the 350-million-dollar "city within a city" in West Palm Beach.

The developers are aligned in the project with the New York bond underwriting firm of Ira Haupt, according to Davis G. Volkert, head of Ewih Engineering Corp., the city's port consultants.

TAKE OVER the present 35-acre city port site on a 99-year lease for redevelopment as a lavish hotel-business-entertainment center on Biscayne Bay.

FINANCE the construction of the Dodge Island Port through purchase by Perini-Westward of port revenue bonds.

Top city officers said other methods of financing are "tricky" because purchaser of the old port would have to wait for delivery until the new port is ready.

The project has been based on a combination of money sources including a 3.8-million-dollar federal appropriation for dredging, six to 10 million dollars from sale of the old port, and a bond issue to back the remainder. Total cost is estimated at about 18 million.

Willard said the alliance wants the city to get a cooperative commitment from Florida East Coast Railway, which owns a 35-acre bayfront tract south of the present port.

The company already is rolling on a huge program predicted to double the population and area of West Palm Beach. It includes building 10,000 homes, several shopping centers, multiple office buildings, hotels, motels and apartments.

Zones, Express Routes Eyed

By C. G. BERNING
Herald Staff Writer

Seven bus transportation systems in Dade County can be unified into a successful Metro operation, and within 30 days provide better service to more people at reduced fares.

This was the enchanting picture presented to a Metro Commission transit committee Monday by David J. Reynolds, supervisor of Metro Public Transportation.

It was the first time a tentative plan had mentioned fares.

Reynolds said bus routes now are geared to serve the 24 per cent of the bus riders who travel to Miami's central business district. The other 76 per cent are left with inadequate service at fares ranging up to 80 cents, he said.

He was giving the committee a report on his recently completed origin-and-destination study.

His plan, Reynolds said, would divide the county into four 20-cent basic fare zones. One would be the present Miami Transit Co's. 20-cent fare area as far north as 95th St.

A 10 or 15-cent "zone transfer" charge would be added as zone boundaries are crossed.

"This would result in generally lower fares for riders in outlying sections who now must transfer between independently operated lines trying to serve a homogeneous area," Reynolds told the committee.

"Unification would provide better schedules and faster service than the present methods. The old system developed because the city grew almost completely in the automobile age, and because the original pattern provided public transportation only to the central Miami business district.

"But the pattern has changed and there now are many outlying centers and we are widely dispersed horizontally over a wide area."

Reynolds said 91 per cent of Dade County transportation is by private automobile and nine per cent by bus. This ratio, he added, is exceeded only by Los Angeles, with 95 to five per cent.

His tentative plan would set up express-service terminals for no-stop runs between Miami, Miami Beach, Hialeah, Coral Gables and Little River—and between Coral Gables and Miami International Airport.

Miami Transit routes would be extended into county areas to replace present hourly service with 20-minute pickups. Cross-town routes would be run along LeJeune Rd., 27th Ave., 17th Ave. and Seventh Ave.

A rider now paying upwards of 80 cents then could ride from one end of the county to the other for 40 or 50 cents, Reynolds said.

Committee Chairman Ben McGahey pointed out that only William Pawley, owning 85 per cent of the present bus transportation lines, had offered to sell to the county for bonds and no cash.

Reynolds said his study indicates the bonds could be paid off from revenue. Commissioner Joseph Boyd suggested that possibly Pawley could acquire the three lines not now in his possession and include them in the over-all setup.

The committee decided to ask the Commission for $6,000 for appraisers' fees and expenses to evaluate the rolling stock of these companies. The appraisal, Reynolds said, is necessary to implement the Commission-ordered audit of the bus companies' books.

* * *

W. W. Brown, of 1240 Obispo Ave., Coral Gables, who rides the Gables bus to work daily: "We need it badly. I certainly hope this plan will be the answer to our transportation problems. Express service is a very good idea."

Wild Alley Cat On the Loose

Police said the cat — which has black rings on its tail — badly scratched the left leg of Ina Weiner, 651 Jefferson Ave. She required hospital treatment and a tetanus shot.

Lewis Displays Rare Knack--Skims Blue Area Without Offense

WITH THE EXCEPTIONS of Holiday on Ice at the Exhibition Hall, Donald O'Connor at the Fontainebleau, and Jean Carroll at the Diplomat there isn't much evidence on the "live" Class AA after-dark scene this week that would indicate that our impresarios anticipated a heavy family trade in this Easter Week-school recess season.

Jack Carter, Buddy Hackett and Joe E. Lewis are all fine funmakers on the supper club circuit but each of them purveys comedy which demands a high degree of sophistication or a familiarity with what used to be called smoking car humor back in the days when off-color (we call them "blue" in the cafe trade) stories were restricted to magazines such as Whizbang or to the closed precincts of the stag party.

But, judging from the reception given Joe E. at the Eden Roc Cafe Pompeii where he is coupled with Eartha Kitt, and Jack Carter at the Americana where he shares billing with Dorothy Sarnoff, the type of joke which might get a frigid look or a stony silence if told by a husband at home in the presence of his children is now acceptable as "family" fun with the same young audience in the togetherness of a tightly packed night club.

We detail all this not in a criticism of the night club show format nor in implication that the expensively decored spots are cesspools of evil but merely to deliver a well-intentioned caution that the Buddy Hackett at the Deauville is not the Hackett of the TV "Stanley" series, nor is Carter the Carter of past television experiments or of the Broadway theater.

Carter Talent Tops Blue Routine

THERE IS NO caution needed for Joe E. Lewis — on two counts. Joe has made very infrequent excursions into media other than cafes in recent years and those who know the name know it not from the other-side-of-the-coin areas of television or the legit stage but from its significance as the easily definable label of the likeable pixie who is a font of ultra-sophisticated parody and a genial gentleman who is undeniably blue but who doesn't have to beat his material black and blue.

What we mean is that Carter, for instance, comes on stage at the Americana Bal Masque Room and for the first 15 minutes of his act recites a brilliant new routine which leads off with a "76 Trombones" parody, sparkling with such newies as a reference to the Belle Moskowitz Room and the acknowledgment of an unusual number of kiddies in the audience by advising them "I'll lay 'em (meaning an egg) and you color them." The appreciative applause on these was near deafening.

Then the hard-sell Carter of old comes out. He harangues and then burlesques in belittling manner the Harry Belafontes, the Jose Grecos, whom he exposes as a name-changer, and the Lauritz Melchiors and he reports that an act which had previously played this same Americana stage used "smelly and moldy" costumes.

But he impeaches his own right to such a complaint against uncleanliness by immediately diving into a couple of pretty "sick" routines about a gynecologist and a psychiatrist and at least one scatological reference.

And do you know what happened then? The applause was near deafening! So who can blame him? Why should he knock himself out with the fine talent for mimicry and for dancing which he possesses when a reach into the "blue" yonder can come up with a handful of laugh-rewarding shockers.

* * *

Joe E. Uses Skill, Not Kill

BUT, GETTING BACK to Joe E. Lewis, at Eden Roc with his accompanist Austin Mack (which immediately gives added class and pseudo-concert status to the proceedings), Joe's voice has the endearing qualities of a family heirloom piece of sandpaper. But the manner to match has no rancor in it and is friendly not frantic as it, too, relates or sings of situations which are concerned with the devious ways of a man with a maid, also-ran maidens (equine), and sour mash and its spirit cousins.

He has a lot of new parodies, the one on "Suzie Wong" taking all the variant tangents you'd expect of it, and the inevitable one on "79 Hormones" covering every angle of ribaldry in the book.

But not once does Lewis grimace evilly or—as we said before—see the necessity for pounding his blue material until it is both black and blue. It may seem a unique simile in view of some of the things Joe E. Lewis, a man who drinks for himself, says—but HIS saving quality is that he's as cute as a little red label. He uses "skill" instead of "kill."

Broadway Hits Bring Cancer Fund a Million

AT THE HEIGHT of the "South Pacific" ticket shortage, in December 1949, when the scalpers happily collected seventy-five dollars for a pair of seats, the producers decided they would rather see the Damon Runyon Memorial Fund for Cancer Research get all that lovely extra money. They therefore set aside, from then on, 14 house seats to be sold to the highest bidder, the money going to the Fund. The highest paid was $4,000 for four tickets. The Fund, to date, has been enriched by over $1,000,000 from house seats to Broadway hits. Thanks to Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, II.

PRODUCER Herman Levin has had his ups and downs in the theater . . . His maiden effort was the mint called "Call Me Mister." His second was "Bonanza Bound" which perished in Philadelphia without the benefit of a New York hearing . . . A young woman (programmed as A Gambling Dancer) was buried in the wreckage. You can see her now in "Redhead": Gwen Verdon . . . Levin bounced back with "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," which ran 93 weeks at the Ziegfeld and netted him $250,000 . . . Director Moss Hart's auto-biography, "Act One," which Random House publishes in September, represents five years' work and only takes him up to the opening of "Once in a Lifetime," a comedy hit of 1930.

Marilyn Monroe's "Some Like It Hot" film had over 20 Legion of Decency people at its screening. They usually send only seven . . . "Redhead" choreographer Bob Fosse settled out of court with his ex-mgr. to stop the latter's long-time yelping . . . H. Allen Smith is due in Vegas to do an "inside" series for a mag. He'll prob'ly do it in his hilarious style, which is always deadly . . . Priscilla Alden, actress-model, and Robin Moore, Sheraton Hotels exec., are a new Romeo & Julietching . . . Philly tycoon Ted Blumberg and bride (Helen Rothchild) advertised their honeymooning at the Harwyn . . . Judy Robinson of "Top of Stairs" weds actor Richard Morse next month . . . Jonathan Winters, who found out how fickle show-biz is, opens a gift shop on West 56th Street.

THE EX-MRS. ERICH REMARQUE dined at Cyrano's with stock broker William Kehoe. She revealed that she's doing a book about her life with the novelist. Title: "He Wrote the Book" . . . Versailles thrush Blossom Dearie appears to prefer Tony March, son of actor Fredric March . . . The National Book Award winners have not yet made the best-seller lists . . . "The Bramble Bush" (forthcoming via Bantam Books) will raise New England eyebrows. Makes "Peyton Place" read like a book of hymns .

* * *

RCA VICTOR and the Warner Bros. recording firm are trying to woo the McGuire Sisters from Coral . . . Audrey Meadows' coast escort was Dr. C. L. Hermann . . . Model Carmelita Gibbs and jockey Willy Hartack let their romance fade . . . The Richard Gehmans (he's an editor at Cosmopolitan) named their daughter Pleasant Ann . . . The mother of Hoagy Carmichael, who passed the other day, was one of the first to accompany the old cowboy-Indian films at the piano in Indiana nickelodeons . . . Andy Williams' H'wood visit is most enjoyable because of Kathy Nolan . . . Looks like the Real Thing between Conrad Hilton and Alena Murray. A constant duet since his return from Cairo . . . Sign on rear of truck: "Free Virginia McManus!"

* * *

Ingrid Bergman is a wonderful actress and a fine lady — but we are appalled by her political logic. The other day she declared: "It isn't a crime in Europe to work with Communists. I worked long enough in Italy and France to know that half of the people I worked with, if not more, are Communists, and we think nothing of it." The foregoing may help explain what's wrong with Europe. The gullibles think nothing of working with Communists — while Communists are working to destroy them.

* * *

THE BIG-TIME: "The World, the Flesh and the Devil" movie, due soon . . . Wm. Gibson's book, "The Seesaw Log" . . . The Diplomat, a new intimate spot on E. 52nd near 1st . . . "Room At The Top," a British movie now at the Fine Arts . . . Kalman Banyak's violin at the Chardas . . . Tony Bennett's "In Person" album featuring Count Basie.

makes perfect beauties, judging from this rehearsal picture of a number which these 11 Hollywood actresses will do for Monday night's televised Academy Awards show. From left, seated, Lori Nelson, Jean Wallace, Terry Moore, Carolyn Jones, Erin O'Brien and Taina Elg. Standing, Arlene Dahl, Connie Tower, Joanna Moore, Inger Stevens and Barbara Rush. Maurice Chevalier will sing "Thank Heaven for Little Girls" as the camera verifies his thesis.

Oscar Program To Go Two Hours

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. —(AP)— Too many stars, too little time. That was Oscar Awards Producer Jerry Wald's problem. So he solved it.

A spokesman says the Academy Awards program April 6 will be televised an additional quarter hour, or two hours in all.

The Oscar ceremonies will be carried by the National Broadcasting Co. television network from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Pacific time.

Movies Next For 'Sunrise'

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Dore Schary's Broadway hit play, "Sunrise at Campobello," will be made into a motion picture as a joint effort by Schary Productions and Warner Bros.

Schary will be the producer and will write the screenplay of this account of Franklin Delano Roosevelt's struggle back to public life after a polio attack.

Well-Ear-ned Rest

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI)— Actor William Holden has to stay grounded for a bit, so he won't be traveling. He has an ear infection.

Technique Fantastic

Young Pianist Charms in Debut

By DORIS RENO
Herald Music and Art Editor

Music Review

John Browing, 25-year-old American pianist, played his debut concert in Miami Monday night for members of the Civic Music Association in Dade County auditorium.

His audience was receptive and warmly enthusiastic, though the too swift outflow of listeners toward the exits after the second encore prevented us from getting more of the bright short works that often help considerably to bring all the facets of an artist's musical personality into focus.

The appearance of a new pianist in a community is always exciting, and this youthful artist seems unusually gifted and already far along towards individual interpretations of worth and significance.

He has a pretty fantastic technique for one his age, but fortunately, he is also a modest young man intent upon interpreting music rather than demonstrating facility for its own sake.

Judging from last night's program, his penchant is for the romantic-poetic repertoire, particularly the poetics of such composers as Schubert and Chopin.

The only programmed work not in this category was Bach's Organ Prelude and Fugue in A minor, in Liszt's arrangement, and this was performed with great freshness of spirit and a clean controlled line that combined to make it seem well-nigh perfect.

The Schubert Impromptus in A-flat and B-flat from Op. 142 were done with a lovely lucidity for which one was properly grateful, and the big Chopin B-flat Minor Sonata was really fabulously well-played.

In the Chopin young Browning's early arrival at authentic and personal interpretation was best demonstrated, and his ability to keep everything well-knit, while at the same time free and spontaneous, was brought forward.

After intermission the pianist dropped us a little from the higher levels, for the second-half works were less significant and he appeared to be less personally involved with them.

The Ravel "Jeux d'eau" was a little thickish in texture and lacked some of the soft shimmer appropriate to it.

We had a strong feeling that Browning didn't have his heart in the Liszt pieces, particularly the Mephisto Waltz, and we feel he is a pianist who should play only what his heart IS in and what his mind consents to. The Valse Oubliee went better, being simpler and lovelier. But it is extraordinarily easy to live without these pieces at all, and there is always Beethoven to fall back on, particularly for an artist as sensitively geared to personal expression as this one.

The encores were a brief Perpetual Motion by Francis Poulenc and Rimsky-Korsakov's "Flight of the Bumble-Bee," done up for piano by Rachmaninoff.

Reds Cheer Ice Show

MOSCOW — (UPI) — Ninety young Americans on ice kindled some warm relations between the U.S. and Russia here Monday night in the first U.S. ice show ever to be staged in the Soviet Union.

From the sound of the applause and the pleased comments in the Soviet press, sports-loving Russians apparently were highly pleased by the two hour, 45-minute program.

Luther L. Copley, Attorney, Dies

Miami Attorney Luther Lakin Copley, who liked to tell how he obtained his first formal schooling "with $50 in one pocket and a .38 revolver in the other," died Monday. He was 68.

A practicing lawyer here since 1927, he came to Miami from Huntington, W. Va., and lived at 5893 SW 42nd St.

MR. COPLEY

He grew up in the mountains of Wayne County, W. Va., and was fond of recalling his boyhood friendship there with George McCoy of the feuding Hatfield-McCoy clans.

Mr. Copley once said he was 14 years old before he could read or write, and decided to "head out with my money and my gun to buy" an education at Kentucky Normal College, Louisa, Ky.

He later was graduated from the University of Michigan and Washington and Lee University.

He was a past officer and director of the Dade County Bar Association, and a member of the American Bar Association and the Florida Bar.

He was a Mason, a member of the board of Haven School for mentally retarded children, and was on the education committee of several Miami Scottish Rite groups.

He was a member of the Orchid Society of Florida.

Services will be at 10 a.m., Wednesday in Combs' Coral Gables Chapel, with burial in Miami Memorial Park.

Mrs. Clara A. Brost

Mrs. Clara A. Brost, 83, died Monday at her home, 910 N. Miami Ave. She came here 10 years ago from Key West. A niece, Mrs. George Cleute, Miami, survives. Services will be at 5 p.m. Thursday at the Key West Episcopal Church. Burial will be in Key West, under the direction of the Flagler Funeral Home.

Reuben Coleman

Services for Reuben Coleman, 88, of 1000 Collins Ave., Miami Beach, who died Sunday, will be in Springfield, Mass., with local arrangements by the Riverside Memorial Chapel. He came here eight years ago from Springfield and was a retired furniture dealer. Surviving are his wife Fanny; three daughters, including Mrs. Ciss Friedman, Miami Beach, and a brother.

Domenico DiTuro

Domenico DiTuro, 79, of 36 NW 58th Ct., who came here eight years ago from Port Chester, N.Y., died Monday. He is survived by three daughters including Mrs. Marie Gazzigli, of Miami; three sons, including Joseph DiTuro and John Roberto, of Miami, one brother and eight grandchildren. Services will be at the Van Orsdel Coral Gables Chapel at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, with burial in Woodlawn Memorial Park.

Mrs. Anna Drozin

Mrs. Anna Drozin, 69, of 1079 NW 114th St., who came here seven years ago from Cleveland, Ohio, died Monday. Survivors include her husband, Anthony; and a daughter, Anne, Miami. Services and burial will be in Cleveland, with local arrangements by the Carl F. Slade Hialeah-Miami Springs Funeral Home.

Miami Beach Pioneer Wilmot Shippy Dies

About that time, when there were only about a dozen houses on the beach, he bought the Ocean Beach apartments at 620 Ocean Dr., which he owned and operated until 1947.

Operating an apartment building did not keep Mr. Shippy busy enough, so he decided to go to work for the then infant city. He was its first sanitation inspector, and was in charge of the fleet of garbage trucks.

He joined the City of Miami Beach Parks Department, and was with that department until his second retirement.

HUMOR PARADE

STRICTLY RICHTER

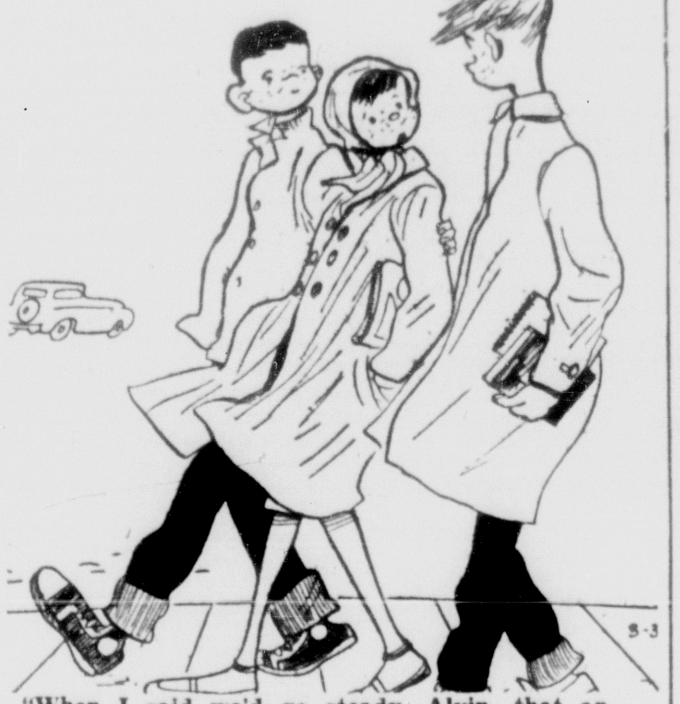
"Yes, it IS rather important—your job depends on your finding it."

EMMY LOU By Marty Links



"When I said we'd go steady, Alvin, that applied only to you, not to me!"
